

Saddened Pope Fasts, Mourns Crucified Christ

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Deeply saddened by the strife inside his Church, Pope Paul VI fasted today with millions of other Catholics to mourn the crucified Christ.

The Pope removed the ring of his office as a sign of mourning for the death of Christ to redeem mankind. The bells of Rome's 500 churches will remain silent and altars stay bare until Saturday night.

The 71-year-old pontiff was taking part in two major services in Rome—the "Dry Mass" in the Rome Basilica of St. Mary Major and a torchlit Way of the Cross procession in the shadow of the Colosseum.

So far during his Holy Week addresses, Pope Paul has made major pronouncements on the disarray in the Roman Catholic Church. He has severely condemned several developments which followed the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

He spoke out during a general audience Wednesday against priests who are "crucifying the Church," by refusing to submit to authority, or by quitting to marry.

On Thursday, he went farther and deplored "a practically schismatic ferment" tormenting his church.

It was the first time the Pope used such strong words to describe the rebellion by many laymen, priests and bishops against Church policies on birth control, priestly celibacy and papal authority.

In a rhetorical question he asked whether "we, too, have schisms, rifts such as those which are painfully denounced by St. Paul in his letter to the Corinthians?"

His mood of sadness and disillusion was clear, as he finished his 20-minute address in a rough, halting voice before an audience of 8,000 in Rome's St. John Lateran Basilica.

The Good Friday ceremony in St. Mary Major Basilica is called a "Dry Mass" because for the only time during the year it does not include the consecration of the bread and wine, which symbolizes Christ's flesh and blood.

Ray Hires His Third Attorney

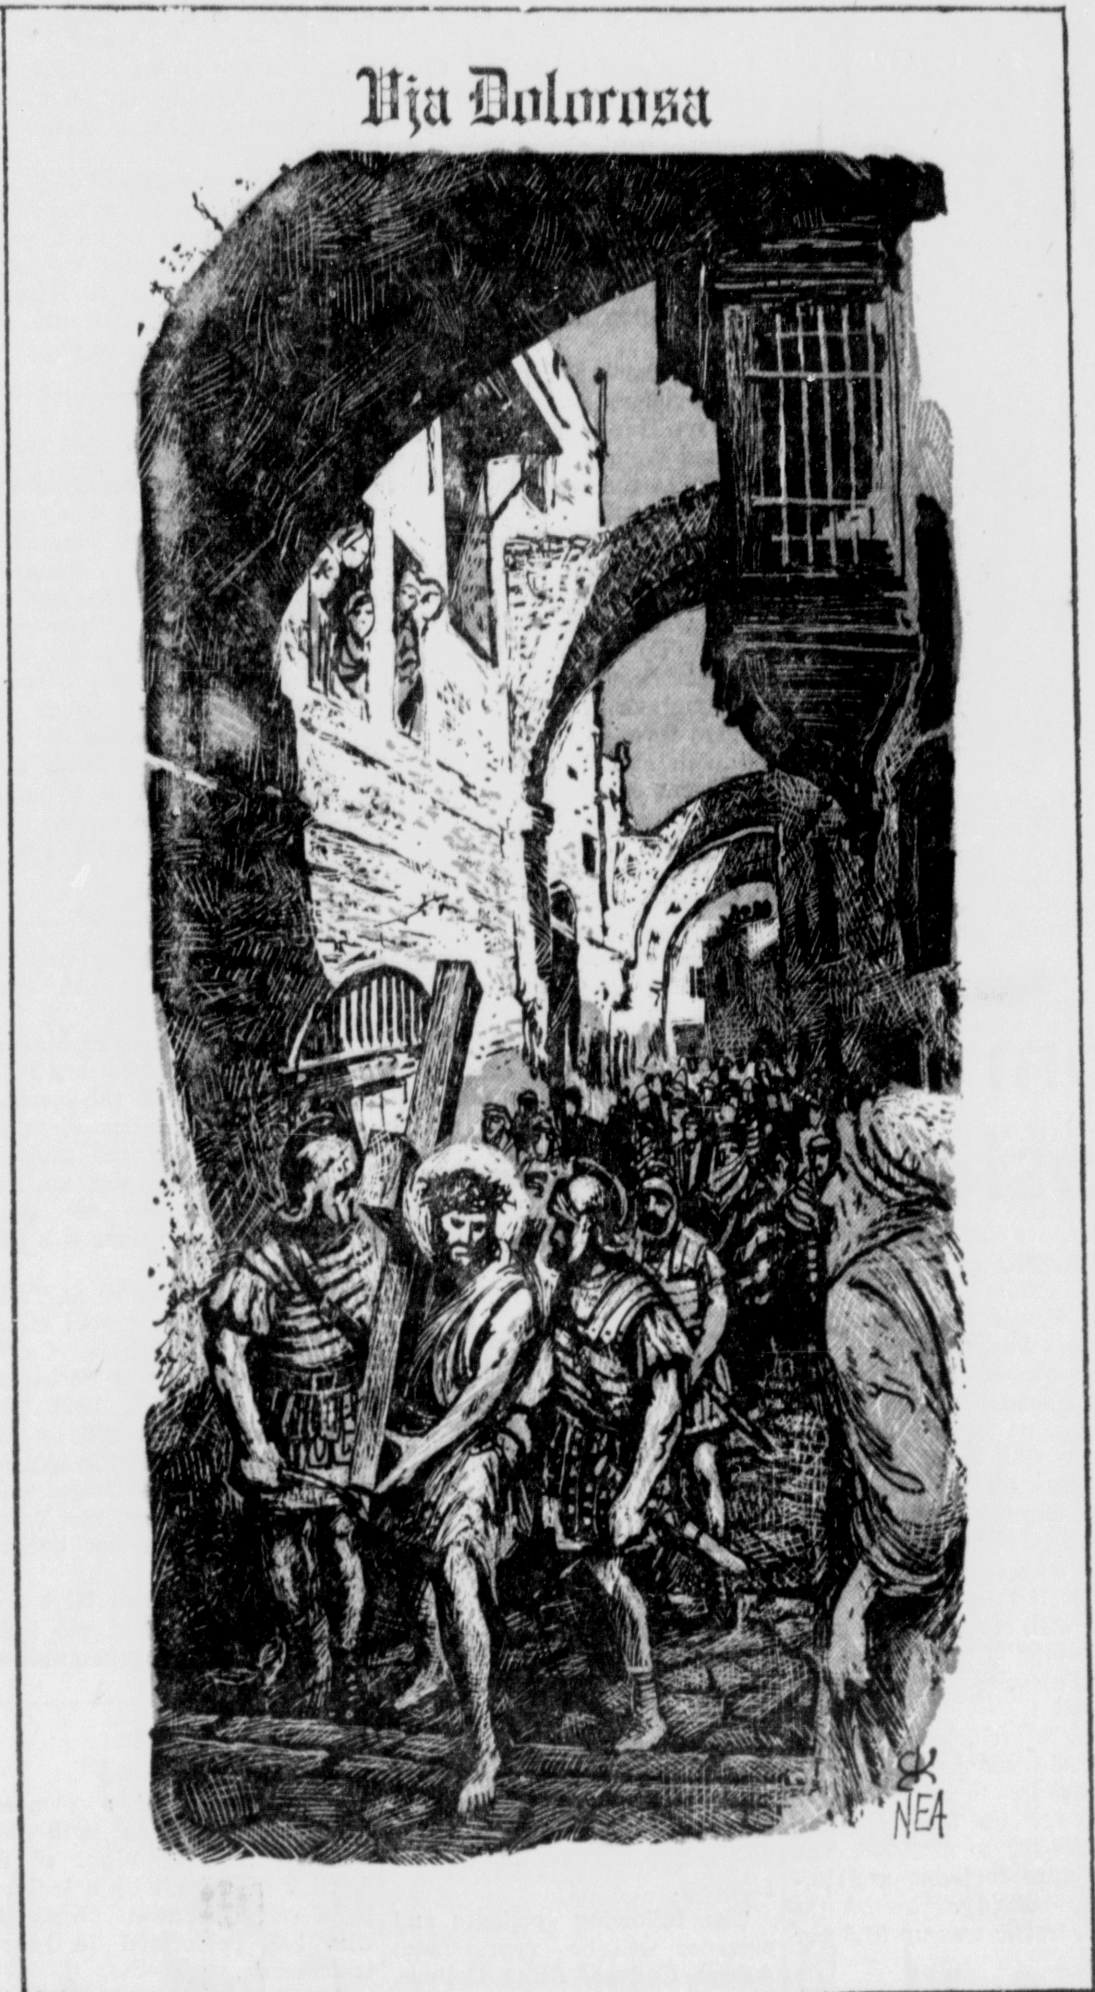

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — James Earl Ray has hired his third defense attorney, and an easy-going, ex-Marine judge has been named to preside over what promise to be complicated proceedings in the case.

Ray, who pleaded guilty March 10 to killing Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. a year ago today and was sentenced to 99 years, gained certification Thursday for his new lawyer, Richard C. Ryan of Memphis.

Ryan's job will be to try to get Ray the new hearing of the case he says he wants.

Canada To Cutback Its NATO Forces

WASHINGTON (AP) — Canada's decision to cut back its NATO forces in Europe likely will trigger demands in Congress for drastic reductions of U.S. troops committed to the alliance, according to officials here.

A movement in the Senate last year to sharply cut the 225,000-man U.S. force committed to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Europe was stopped only when the Soviet Union and its allies invaded Czechoslovakia last August.

The Soviet intervention resulted in fears that the East-West military situation in Europe might become unbalanced by a cutback of U.S. forces.

These apprehensions have largely subsided and presumably would be revived only by some fresh Soviet thrust.

The Canadian move focuses fresh attention on the troop level issue and makes renewed congressional pressure for U.S. reduction almost inevitable, some well-informed officials feel.

The action by Canada, which has only about 10,000 troops in Europe is seen here as a reflection of a feeling fairly widespread through the alliance that NATO has outlived its original purpose.

The alliance was formed 20 years ago today as a defense against any threat to Western Europe by the Soviet Union. The feeling now is that the Soviet threat has largely diminished and the alliance is in need of a fundamental review and revision.

Senate critics consider that too many U.S. troops are deployed in Europe. One of the chief advocates of reduction last year was Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield. He and others circulated a resolution to reduce greatly the U.S. troop level and obtained 52 signatures.

Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau announced the Canadian decision late Thursday, a few hours after notifying the

Milliken Ignores Urgency Of School Crisis: Ryan

LANSING (AP)—Saying Gov. William Milliken's Educational Reform Commission ignores the urgency of the school crisis, House Speaker William Ryan today vowed to fight for increased financial assistance for both public and private schools during the coming school year.

"The delay he suggests will only serve to compound the problem," the Detroit Democrat said. "There is an immediate need for increased financial aid for both the public and private sectors of education."

He also pledged to support moves to revise the state school aid formula this year.

Ryan made his statement after Milliken announced creation of an Educational Reform Commission that would spearhead a "solid and total reform of our educational system and" write a "clear blueprint for the future."

Business Leaders

The commission reportedly would consist mainly of business leaders and would report its recommendations to the Legislature not later than Sept. 30. At that time, Milliken said, he would call a special session of the Legislature—if necessary—to review and implement sweeping changes in the state's educational system.

Meanwhile, he urged the Legislature to approve his proposed $85 million increase for schools during the coming year, and asked teachers and school boards to act with restraint until reforms were enacted.

"I rather doubt there's going to be the restraint—which really means denial of consideration," Ryan said. "I'm not happy with his suggestion that there be a delay."

Senate Majority Leader Emil Lockwood, who earlier called for an increase greater than the governor's recommendation, said:

Disagrees

"I would hope that not only the general public, but many people more directly involved in the education of our children such as school teachers, would concur in the necessity of focusing our attention on education and the means of financing it by a certain date."

House Minority Leader Robert Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe, added that he endorsed the high level review, but disagreed with some minor points.

"I think the governor was more or less forced into this particular situation because of the slowness with which the House has given attention to the State Aid Act," he added.

He called it a "tragedy of priorities" that a bill to give an estimated $40 million to parochial and private schools was reported out of the House Education Committee before the state aid and related bills.

Milliken's toe-the-line stance on limiting state aid to increase to $85 million is "probably the only way we can balance the budget this year," Waldron said.

Delay Tactics

One Democratic representative, however, said Milliken's delaying tactic is only a means to increase public support for additional school taxes, both public and private.

The member, who asked not to be named, predicted teachers would strike in Detroit in September. The strike, coupled with others elsewhere in the state, would force a rising public clamor for more state funds, he said.

The public then would find it easier to swallow measures to hike taxes to pay for expanded school assistance, he reasoned.

The New Detroit Committee, which reportedly was prepared to ask for $90 million for the city's schools, has given its approval to Milliken's proposal and will backdown its request, one source added.

Rep. J. Robert Traxler, D-Bay City, sponsor of the controversial parochial bill, said, "I'm pleased the governor supports my bill to provide financial assistance for the education of nonpublic schools."

"Unacceptable"

However, he said, "I was hopeful the governor would advance a blueprint for solving the financial crisis both in public and nonpublic education, but his message raised more questions than it answers."

"Since he did not do this, it now becomes apparent this responsibility must be assumed by the Legislature," he added.

Senate Minority Leader Sander Levin, D-Berkley, said, "I don't think the problems will wait for a delayed solution. All he is doing is putting it off for another year and getting a jump on the 1970-71 school year."

Milliken's approach, Levin added, was "unacceptable."

6,000 National Guardsmen Patrol Chicago Ghettos

CHICAGO (AP) — A force of 6,000 National Guardsmen patrolled two violence-scarred Negro neighborhoods today as the city braced itself for a tense weekend.

The guardsmen were called up for duty in the West and Near North Side areas Thursday after shooting, looting and fighting broke out in frightening reminder of devastating riots exactly a year ago following the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The troubled areas were relatively quiet during the night—with guardsmen patrolling in jeeps and trucks, a curfew in effect, and liquor, gasoline in containers and firearm sales banned.

But the closing of schools today—in observance of Good Friday—and a Saturday peace march expected to attract 3,000 out-of-towners added to police apprehension.

Seventy-nine persons were injured and some 250 arrested Thursday in the violence which followed a mass exodus of students from seven high schools.

Negro Gangs

A similar exodus a year ago prestaged riots which leveled whole blocks along West Madison Street and killed 11 persons—all of them Negroes.

This time the students flocked into the streets fresh from emotion-filled memorial services on the first anniversary of King's death.

Gangs of Negroes, most of them young, surged along the same West Madison Street strip and, across town, along sidewalks around a public housing project near the North Side Old Town district.

Store windows shattered as bricks were hurled, then crowds climbed through to gather goods.

Heaps of rubble left from last year's riots on the West Side provided weapons for the looters.

Imposed Curfew

Shortly after the trouble began, Mayor Richard J. Daley asked for National Guard troops "as a precautionary measure." He imposed a curfew for persons under 21 between 7 p.m. and 6 a.m.

"The government of this state will not stand for this kind of activity," warned Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie upon his arrival from Springfield by plane "to be on hand in case I'm needed."

The governor also addressed this warning to the troublemakers:

"Cool it, if you understand me. Nothing is to be gained by this kind of activity."

He added: "This is not in keeping with the memory of Dr. Martin Luther King."

Nixon Works On Domestic Policy

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — Facing the necessity of fashioning a domestic policy program for a three-month-old Congress, President Nixon summoned key advisers to his waterfront home today to discuss priorities.

One of Nixon's major problems is to try to deal with pressing home front needs and still spend less money than the $195-plus billion originally blueprinted by former President Lyndon B. Johnson for the fiscal year that begins July 1.

Since the chief executive figures that inflation and miscalculations already have put the Johnson-proposed budget at $97 billion, he has little leeway to start new domestic programs and still keep a promise to hold spending substantially below the level Johnson forecast.

Compelling Needs

Gathering for the conference with Nixon were Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Robert Finch, White House counselor Arthur F. Burns, White House counsel John D. Ehrlichman, and presidential assistants Daniel P. Moynihan and Bryce N. Harlow.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said he expected they would talk about "the broad range of compelling needs that face the nation, and that the President will begin to set priorities based upon the dollars that are available."

Nixon told one news conference he expected to outline a domestic program to Congress in a special message about mid-April. Now, however, a comprehensive outline of his plans appears to have been ruled out.

Less Ambitious

In fact, because of budget stringency dictated by a need to counter inflation, the Nixon domestic program for 1969 may turn out to be far less ambitious than he once indicated.

The most recent emphasis has been on analyzing existing programs in an effort to determine how they can be run more effectively and economically.

And in any event, Congress would be unlikely at this late date to be in a mood to act upon a large number of broad and complicated domestic proposals from the White House.

After the legislators return from their 10-day Easter recess, Ziegler said, Nixon will begin submitting "a flow" of suggestions to Congress. But he cautioned against expecting these to be forthcoming at a rapid-fire pace.

40 Arrested At Western Mich.

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Forty demonstrators were arrested by about 200 police at Western Michigan University today when around 4,000 students gathered in a protest for more student rights.

About six policemen suffered minor injuries when rocks and firecrackers were thrown.

Dr. James Miller, president of Western Michigan, alerted police to the latest in a series of student protests for more control over nonacademic matters such as housing, the student newspaper and student discipline.

Police said the students were arrested after they refused to disperse and were charged with either unlawful assembly or assault with intent to do great bodily harm. Both are felonies.

On Tuesday, up to 500 students remained past the 11 p.m. closing hour at the university's student union, but they left three hours later before police arrived.

President Miller, who also notified authorities Tuesday, said Wednesday the student leaders in the demonstration would be punished.

Historic Copper Mining Industry Killed By Strike

HOUGHTON (AP) — Residents of the copper-mining area around Houghton have reacted with fear, disdain and anger to an announcement Universal Oil Products plans to shut down its Upper Peninsula mining operation because of a strike.

"It looks pretty bad. I don't know what to say," muttered one striking employee of the Centennial mine in Universal's Calumet Division at nearby Calumet.

"Shut it down. Shut it down," said a number of copper workers.

"Maybe if they shut it down, we'll get something better" than the copper employer, another striker said.

Universal Oil officials said Thursday they were preparing to close the Calumet Division facilities in Upper Michigan because of a 7½-month strike by some 1,000 members of United Steelworkers Union Local 4312.

The division, which had been one of the largest single employers in the U.P., operated copper mines, a smelter, a chemical products unit and other facilities in the mining area.

Meanwhile, a group of some 50 Calumet businessmen today set a public meeting in an effort to delay shutdown preparations and to attempt to get the company and union back to the bargaining table.

The businessmen also planned to discuss possible effects of a shutdown by the Calumet Division. Invited to the meeting were union and management officials and representatives of area governmental units.

Bells tolled mournfully Thursday in St. Cecilia Roman Catholic Church at Hubble, where a smelter and mills are located.

The Steelworkers walked off their jobs last Aug. 21. After the 1,000-employee walkout, the firm permanently laid off about 70 workers.

Universal officials charged a "failure of the union to seriously negotiate about the company's offer." It said it offered a contract containing increases in wages and fringe benefits.

The firm accused the union of helping make profitable operations impossible in the Calumet Division.

No Possibility
The company said that at an April 2 meeting, union spokesmen indicated there was no possibility of resolving differences. Negotiations then were terminated.

Keweenaw Peninsula businessmen have talked pessimistically about the plight of the Calumet Division and economic conditions in the area in the recent past.

A number of workers have found work elsewhere, leaving their families behind or pulling up roots completely.

Churches offered special prayers on the outcome of negotiations. One church will emphasize the issue during its 24-hour Easter prayers.

Rumors Circulate

Rumors that the Calumet Division, Calumet & Hecla group of Universal Oil Products Co., would be closed have circulated in the Upper Peninsula for several months, but the first official hint of the action came earlier this week in a letter from Richard N. Speer, president of

Distinguished Developer Assigned To St. Anne's

Fr. Louis Cappel has returned to Escanaba after an absence of 20 years, in which he acquired stature as one of the Upper Peninsula's most respected economic developers, to become pastor of St. Anne's Church.

He left here in 1950 after a year and a half service as assistant pastor of St. Anne's. In the interim he served at Wakefield, Ramsay, Hubbell and L'Anse.

Father Cappel, a priest for 22 years, is a native of Baltic near

"Father Cappel has been long associated with local community and regional economic development efforts," said Lee Meyers, executive director of the Upper Peninsula Commission For Area Progress. "He has been a source of strength in UPCA policy-making for a number of years."

"Father Cappel," said George Rusch, executive director of the new Mid-Peninsula Economic Development District, "is now representative for the districts within UPCA and was one of the local leaders whose understanding and cooperation contributed to the organization of a district in the Western Upper Peninsula."

to an interest in economic development and job making for the depression years and the deterioration of the economy of Gogebic County when he served as a priest there.

"The mines were going down. When I went there we had 13 operating and while I was there we lost 12. Six months after I left the Peterson Mine closed and then there were none."

Gas Promoter

"Bishop Salatkia wants me to stay involved in community development and I am pleased now," says Father Cappel. "We've made tremendous strides in the past 8 years. The two great problem areas now are Iron River and the Copper Country."

"Mining is fading at Iron River and the Copper Country is troubled by the Calumet & Hecla strike."

"The Sault area still has problems, too, but they will be coming out of it. Generally the Upper Peninsula is on the upturn."

"There is a big potential for development in recreation, but we haven't hit it yet. Highways are a determining factor. Roads are going to be our chief means of transportation."

Pleased With Growth

"I am really pleased with the growth of the Peninsula. We're beginning to look like a more prosperous part of the state and I'm particularly pleased to see the growth in the Escanaba area. There are still some pockets in the U. P. that we'll have to work on, but I feel that it is up to the communities themselves to determine which way they want to go."

"Outsiders can't tell you which way to go. I thought that our Western Upper Peninsula Economic Development District should move its meetings about the area and not hold them all in Houghton. But when we met at Iron River we had little representation from that area. They are the most effected and should be the most concerned."

"Gogebic was able to build its economy after the collapse of its mining, but the situation was different than at Iron River, because it had copper mining jobs available at White Pine nearby, and hundreds were employed there."

Workshop

For the third straight year an employee relations workshop for municipal and county officials will be presented by the University of Michigan Extension Service State Office Building from 9:30 to 4:30 CST. Supervisory unionism, mediation and fact-finding, and grievance and arbitration procedures have been suggested as topics. Registration must be paid by Monday, April 7.

Bridge Boom Is Tourist Booster

Once again Mackinac Bridge traffic soared to an all-time record high for any March since the opening of the bridge more than 11 years ago. The increase was attributed to the recent 60 per cent slash in bridge fares, by Prentiss Brown, chairman of the Mackinac Bridge Authority.

"The 25.1 per cent increase in bridge crossings over a year ago must be due to the fare reduction which has stimulated great growth in weekend traffic. Many of the additional bridge crossers were snowmobilers, basketball fans, and people with Upper Peninsula ties who are now induced to make more crossings as a result of the fare reduction."

"For the first three months of 1969, since the fare reduction was inaugurated, traffic is up 26.3 per cent, from 112,738 crossings to 142,441. Should this trend continue throughout the summer, we can look forward to substantial improvement in tourist business on both sides of the Straits and throughout the Upper Peninsula.

"Businessmen serving the tourist industry should keep a close eye on bridge crossings, and if the trend continues, make plans for serving the increased number of vacationists who will be seeking food, shelter, and entertainment. It would be tragic if these visitors were treated with less than the gracious hospitality for which the Upper Peninsula is famous," said Brown.

During March, bridge traffic was up 25.1 per cent, from 45,934 vehicles to 57,483. Revenues were up 3.3 per cent, from $216,280 to $223,328. The latter figure includes a $113,960 state subsidy.

Truck traffic was up 31.8 per cent.

Cliffs Renews Talk On Pulping Facility

Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co. reports that its production of forest products in 1968 was 6.4 million board feet larger than in 1967.

In a time of great need nationally for lumber and dimension stock the CCI production of hardwood sawlogs rose from 22.5 million board feet to 27.5 million.

The increases, says the annual report of President H. Stuart Harrison of Cliffs, resulted from a decision made early in the year to increase the annual hardwood harvest from the company's timberlands in the Upper Peninsula to approximately 32 million board feet within the next few years.

Up Allowable Cut

This decision was based on an analysis of forest data provided through Cliffs' own Continuous Forest Inventory Management Program. The analysis indicated that a substantial volume of large diameter trees had reached economic maturity and should be harvested not only to obtain maximum economic return, but also to promote growth of the remaining trees.

With decision to increase the annual cut, it was also decided to increase the annual capacity of Cliffs' Forest Center sawmill near Munising from 17 million board feet of lumber a year to 24 million. The expansion is scheduled for completion in the spring of 1969. The lumber kiln drying facilities at the mill are being doubled in capacity.

Renew Pulpmill Talk

"Although Oxford Paper Co. decided not to build a paper mill near Munising to utilize our pulpwood," stated Harrison, "the economic feasibility studies were encouraging and we are presently holding preliminary discussions with other interested companies."

"Our forest size and location in relation to Midwestern markets, together with the increased use of hardwoods in paper manufacture and the growing demand for pulpwood, are important attractions for companies who can utilize this fiber."

"Our small sawmill at Trout Creek, purchased in 1967 (from the Abbott Fox Lumber Co. of Iron Mountain) was destroyed by fire on Nov. 9, 1968. The loss was fully covered by insurance. Because of the expansion of our Forest Center mill it was decided that the Trout Creek mill would not be rebuilt."

Lumber Demand High
Harrison said that the high demand for lumber continued in 1968 and that the outlook for 1969 appears good. Projections published by the industry and government agencies reflect a growing demand for hardwood lumber and other forest products. Cliffs is continuing a search, he said, for opportunities that will insure growth and expansion of its forest products industry.

Its research program to test the production of activated charcoal and chemical by-products from sawdust, chips and bark was completed last October and the data gathered is being evaluated to determine whether a continuing research effort in this field is advisable.

Research

Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co. and its associated companies in Michigan have created a grant of $130,000 to Michigan Technological University at Houghton for a two-year study of Cliffs' iron ore tailings (mining waste) basins.

Objectives of the study are to find ways to speed the natural regrowth of trees and shrubs and to find a possible industrial use for the fine waste materials in these basins.

Lake Superior College Center To Honor Cisler

SAULT STE. MARIE — The naming of a new million dollar college center for Lake Superior State College as "The Walker Cisler College Center" after the chairman of the board of the Detroit Edison Co. and long time friend of the Upper Peninsula, was announced today by college officials.

The new Walker Cisler College Center will have a multi-purpose function, serving as a center of students activities on campus and as a center for conferences, community activities and cultural affairs in the Eastern Upper Peninsula.

The approval for the Walker Cisler designation came after Cisler's acceptance and the endorsement of the Michigan

Technological University board of control at Houghton. The MTU board is the governing body of the Sault campus.

The Cisler Center will be constructed overlooking the Sault locks, the International Bridge, and the upper St. Mary's River, on the northern border of the campus, which was the site of the former Fort Brady.

Hiawatha Foresters Innovate

Snowmobile Seeds Pines

Still another use for a snowmobile has been found by U.S. Forest Service workers on the Hiawatha National Forest, says Spar Sager.

He and fellow workers recently seeded an area of the forest for jack pine growth with a snowmobile.

The seeding of 160 acres was done on March 22 and 24th by two men in the Munising Ranger District of the forest near Powell Lake. The site had been disked in the summer of 1967 to expose mineral soil for the seeding, which is necessary for seed germination.

Thirty acres adjacent to this year's seeding was seeded with a cyclone seeder by a man on foot in 1968, when the snow disappeared from the areas in early March, an unusual occurrence in the Munising area. This seeding was highly successful, partially because of the ideal season which followed seeding, with ample rainfall.

Repeat In Failure

This type of forest regeneration, said Sager, must be kept economical. It employs a quarter pound of seed per acre and failure is expected when the season is adverse. The process is repeated if the first seeding fails. Foresters say that heavy application of seeds in the hope that some will germinate doesn't work; that all or none of the seeds "catch."

The seed is collected locally and purchased by the bushel in cones and then sent to a Weston, Mich., extractor and stored until usage. It is treated with fungicides and with bird repellants like Arasan and Anthraquinone and aluminum flakes are placed in the seeds. The seed costs $15 a pound and seeding this year cost a little under $5 per acre.

Ideal Vehicle

Sager said that advantages of the snowmobile as a seeding vehicle are:

1. It's easy to calibrate seeding on the snow, with speed adjustment of the machine controlling the scatter.
2. Straight lines of seeding are easily possible with a good snow cover over any slash in the area.
3. Snowmobile tracks provide excellent guides for succeeding strips.
4. Driver and seeder operator can change off labors.

Pass J. L. Hudson Merger Plans

LANSING (AP)—A bill aimed at helping the J. L. Hudson Co. of Detroit complete merger plans with the Dayton Corp. of Minneapolis was passed Thursday by the Senate and returned to the House which promptly voted immediate effect.

That action would make the bill law as soon as Gov. William Milliken signs it.

The bill previously sailed through the House earlier. Purpose of the proposed legislation is to allow Hudson's and the Dayton Corp. to transfer stock and capital to a third-party holding company. Under present Michigan corporation laws Hudson's, as the smaller of the merging parties, would be absorbed by the Dayton Corp.

Washington Fifth Graders Make First TV Appearance

BY DAVE ANDREWS

The fifth grade class at Washington School isn't quite in the Jackie Gleason class yet on television, but they're working on it.

They're also working at becoming newspaper reporters, playwrights and, of course, being fifth grade students in a program of activity that keeps the class on the move.

The television assignment for 33 youngsters came up this week in a trip to Northern Michigan University at Marquette to video-tape a class-written, directed and produced operetta. It was the first time an Escanaba elementary grade had performed for television cameras.

Joseph LeDuc, teacher of the class, said a member of the NMU staff saw a performance of the operetta in Escanaba and asked the class to come to Marquette for the video taping. The tape, LeDuc said, will be used in NMU education courses to demonstrate what can be accomplished with fifth grade students.

The operetta—entitled "A Southern Happening"—was directed by Tom Fish of Winnetka, Ill., who has been a student teacher in the class under LeDuc.

Write Own Parts

Script for the operetta was written by the students and Beverly Moraco, music teacher, helped with the music. Audrey Kress, teacher aide, also assisted in the production.

"Three kids wrote the outline and then we assigned the major parts," LeDuc explained. "The kids each wrote their own dialogue. We put it all together and it worked."

For the youngsters, the television appearance provided the greatest excitement.

One said she was excited, another was scared. A third reported she was nervous.

The class, riding in private automobiles driven by members of the school district's teaching staff and administration, left Escanaba about 9:15 a. m. Tuesday. After a rehearsal at the Lee Hall television studios, the class lunched at the "Wildcat Den" cafeteria, and visited the bookstore and library before returning to the television studios for the taping.

Write Stories

The operetta was a story about slavery in the south in the Civil War era and the youngsters were costumed and some of them "blackfaced" for the program.

On the playback on studio monitors, LeDuc said, the class was so enthralled by their own performance they applauded when it was over.

WNMR-TV hopes to show the program later this spring at a date to be announced over its cable television outlets in the Upper Peninsula (Ch. 3 in Escanaba).

When they returned to class the next day, each student was required to write a "news story" about the trip. "They met at the Chamber of Congress, then went on to the university," one youngster wrote. Another headlined her story "A Famous Operetta" while still another headline boasted "New Stars Are Born."

Cast Listed

Bonds Can Be Sold Before Appropriation

LANSING (AP)—Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley ruled Thursday bills implementing sale of $335 million in water pollution control bonds can be passed by the Legislature before action is taken on general appropriation bills.

Kelley made his ruling on a request from Gov. William Milliken, who has urged swift passage of bond measures to take advantage of the spring construction season.

In seeking the ruling, Milliken noted a section of the state constitution prohibits passage of appropriation bills for items not included in the budget until the general budget bills have been approved or rejected.

Kelley said bills implementing sale of the bonds do not "require an appropriation to be made by the legislature in order to further the purposes of the bills."

Thus, the attorney general ruled, the constitutional prohibition does not apply.

Bills are before both houses of the Legislature to authorize sale of the bonds. One measure permits issuance of $285 million for construction of sewage treatment works. A companion bill would permit sale of $50 million in bonds for sewer construction in local communities.

Keep Police Off Campuses: Kerr

EAST LANSING (AP)—Police should not be called in to break up campus demonstrations unless illegal violence has occurred, an expert on the subject declared Thursday.

Dr. Clark Kerr, president of the University of California at Berkeley during 1967 student demonstrations there, made the observation at a news conference.

"As long as there is no illegal violence, the emphasis should be on discussion and persuasion," Kerr said. "It is a mistake to use police force as an answer to anything but force itself."

Kerr said his philosophy of using discussion and compromise was not liked by those outside the university community. He said he was "severely criticized" for his approach to campus disorders.

It was Gov. Pat Brown, he said, who called in police during the demonstrations at Berkeley.

Kerr now is a professor of labor and industrial relations at the university and executive director of a Carnegie Foundation Commission studying the future of higher education in America.

Asked about the college of the future, Kerr said student enrollments will increase by about 50 per cent by 1980. He predicted there will be a larger number of students coming from lower income families and ghetto homes.

"Rather than assuming every student comes in equal as we do now with our present, largely middle class crop, we will have to give each freshman a lot more individual attention," he said.

The Carnegie Foundation, he said, has recommended that 500 more junior colleges be established across the nation.

"The junior colleges will become absolutely indispensable," he predicted.

Tom Sincavitch Gets Stockade

FT. RILEY, Kan. (AP)—Pvt. Tom Sincavitch of Detroit, arrested last month during an anti-war vigil in a Detroit inner city church, is back in the Ft. Riley stockade after refusing to report to active duty as ordered by an Army courtmartial.

An Army spokesman said Thursday no specific charges had been filed against him.

He was convicted by a special courtmartial Tuesday for being absent without leave. He was given a suspended six-month sentence at hard labor, fined $70 a month for six months, and ordered to active duty.

Sincavitch was assigned to the 2nd Squadron, 9th Cavalry, 24th Division at Ft. Riley, but he refused to sign the unit's roster and he refused to sign for his equipment, the spokesman said. He then was returned to the stockade.

Sincavitch tried to resign from the Army Reserve last June after being ordered to take riot control training, which he called racist and hypocritical.

He was arrested in Detroit March 12 by FBI agents. Sincavitch was joined by more than 40 antiwar protesters who temporarily adopted his name in an unsuccessful attempt to confuse the federal agents.

Donate $800 To Police Families

LANSING (AP)—Legislators have donated some $800 to the families of two Detroit policemen shot in racial violence last weekend, reports Sen. John McCauley, D-Wyandotte.

McCauley said he collected "about $100" in the Senate and Rep. Frank Wierzbicki, D-Detroit, came up with the remainder in the House.

Patrolman Michael Czapski was shot to death and his partner, Richard Worobec, wounded in the incident that touched off heated controversy over the judicial handling of persons arrested at the shootout scene.

City To Survey For Dutch Elm Disease

The City of Escanaba will undertake a survey to determine the number of American elm trees in the city, an initial step in evaluating a proposed Dutch elm disease control program.

But how far the city wants to go and how much money it can spend to halt the spread of the disease that has killed elms throughout the East and Middle West the City Council will decide later.

Norman Remington, Escanaba, plant industry division, Michigan Department of Agriculture, answered questions and told the Council about the control measures at the Council session in the County Building Thursday night.

Why Just City?

His appearance followed the reading of a letter from Leonard J. Gardner, regional supervisor, of the Department.

Mayor Cecil B. Chase and other councilmen were told that until a survey of elm trees in the community is undertaken it will be impossible to estimate how much the program may cost.

City Manager George Harvey questioned why the county should not be equally interested in preserving elm trees. The disease has spread from trees in Wells Township into the city, he pointed out.

"All I can say is, good luck," replied Remington, who noted that the value placed on trees is different among rural dwellers than among city folk. You can't keep the disease out of city elms entirely, he added.

Three Methods

The survey is not a costly or long process, Remington added. It should take one city employee about one week, he estimated. Remington said that he will cooperate with the individual who will do the survey.

Regional Supervisor Gardner of the Department of Agriculture advised the Council:

• There should be a complete survey of elm trees within the city to determine how many trees are involved and whether they are on public or private property.

• If a control program is undertaken it should be done in springtime. Remington said it would have to be annually.

• There are three methods that might be considered, said Gardner: 1—Spray using 25 methoxychlor emulsion in 100 gallons of water. "It must be noted, however, that dilute sprays that are applied with hydraulic equipment are generally more poisonous to wildlife than mist blower application of the same material."

2—Use a mist blower, which requires two to three gallons of the concentrate material to treat a 50-foot tree. 3—Application with use of a helicopter. "The drift of methoxychlor will kill fish if applied or drifted into streams or ponds."

"Some of the elixene formulations of methoxychlor may cause pitting on certain car finishes, but this can be alleviated to some degree by adding five gallons of horticultural white oil in place of five gallons of water."

"It is also very important not to dispose of any excess spray material down sewers or drains but put them into sanitary landfill dump, or pit, and cover them with at least 18 inches of soil," Gardner advised the Council.

To See Movie

Replying to questions from the Council about the hazards in the use of spray materials,

Remington said pesticides are a valuable tool, like the side-arm carried by a police officer—"if properly handled it is relatively safe." DDT, although more toxic and beneficial, is not being used.

Control on a rural basis is "pretty impractical," he added. First identification of diseased elms was in trees on state highway right of way at Memory Lane last year and six trees have been removed.

"At this time we cannot say whether this is a localized problem, but we do want to make the City of Escanaba aware of it and to know the background," Remington said. The Department of Agriculture offered to show an information film at a later date and the Council approved seeing it after the tree survey is completed.

Detroit Changed By King's Death

DETROIT (AP)—As in many American cities, relations between whites and blacks in Detroit were changed by the slaying one year ago of the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr.

But leaders on both sides find it difficult to agree on whether there has been change for the better. And, if there has been some progress in race relations, has it been enough?

"In a way we've progressed," said a spokesman for the New Detroit Committee, formed to seek solutions to the problems that led to the devastating racial riot of July 1967.

"We've learned a little," he added. "But have we learned enough? So far, New Detroit doesn't think so."

Employment Improved

A Negro councilman says he feels, on the one hand, the employment situation of Negroes has improved, but at the same time relations between police and the Negro community have deteriorated.

Mayor Jerome Cavanagh and George Romney, then governor, considered their reaction to last year's outbreaks a lesson learned in itself.

Criticized for not nipping the 1967 riot in the bud, the mayor and the governor moved swiftly last April when Negroes began forming crowds on the streets and started tossing bottles and rocks.

Over 9,000 Michigan National Guardsmen were mobilized "as a precautionary and preventive measure." Half of them were sent to Detroit. Scores of State Police were rushed to the city.

A curfew was clamped down, along with a ban on the sale of gasoline and firearms.

No Major Blowup

Although two persons were killed, the city was quiet by nightfall on Friday, the day after King's death and the day the disturbances broke out.

"The very fact there was such calm in the city following the assassination, that we didn't have a major blowup on our hands is an indication that conditions had improved up to that point," an aide to Mayor Cavanagh said recently.

At that time, however, some more militant Negro leaders denounced the swift reaction by authorities and said a major blowup was avoided only by "police state" tactics.

Relations between the black community and whites were put to the test, and are still being put to the test, as the result of an incident at a church filled with Negroes last Saturday night. Two white policemen were shot, one fatally, and four Negroes were wounded.

"It is a tribute to the good sense and restraint of the citizens that further violence has been avoided," said Cavanagh after the incident.

A spokesman for New Detroit took a different view.

"A major crisis was averted due to the fact that the militants at least allowed the system to work for them in the person of George Crockett," the spokesman said.

Crockett, as Recorder's Court judge, sparked a controversy when he released between 15 and 18 of more than 100 persons arrested after the shooting, saying they had not been advised of their rights before being given tests to see if any had fired weapons.

In the view of the New Detroit group, though, the city is going into the summer in a much better position than it was last year.

"By this summer, New Detroit's support and encouragement of community programs will have involved a large segment of the total community with the problems—and this should help alleviate those problems," the New Detroit spokesman said.

Fred Lyles Fund

One of the programs New Detroit has underway is the Fred Lyles Fund, named for the leader of United Tenants for Collective Action who was shot and paralyzed by an unknown assailant last year.

The fund is to be used to collect money within the black community for improvements in ghetto housing, according to New Detroit.

"There's no specific barometer you can use to measure racial tension," says an aide to Mayor Cavanagh. "For instance, you can't say conditions have improved X per cent during the year since then."

"But I think you can set some criteria. What actually took place last year was of outstanding quality. The very fact that there was such calm in the city following the assassination, that we didn't have a major blowup on our hands is an indication that conditions had improved up to that point."

Good Friday

It seems paradoxical that the darkest day on the Christian calendar is called Good Friday. This was the day on which Jesus Christ was executed by crucifixion, a cruel form of killing reserved for criminals, on Mount Calvary outside Jerusalem.

It is "Good Friday" because it is the climax of Christ's mission to mankind, the giving of His life as an exemplification of His teaching. He need not have died at the hands of his executioners; any more than Socrates need have died "for corrupting the youth of Athens."

He stood on principle. His life became a testament to his message.

And today on Good Friday throughout Christendom people kneel in Tre Ore services to live again the three hours of agony experienced by Christ on the Cross of Calvary. His earthly mission was ended, on Easter Sunday the glad tidings of the Resurrection were proclaimed: "Christ is risen."

The Christian faith was spread by the disciples and by other men who had heard about Jesus from them, but it was many years before the Christian Church came into being. He was the author not only of Christianity but an influence in the Jewish religion, too, for while the Jews rejected him as their Messiah, many of His teachings still are a part of the Jewish religion, and He is also one of the prophets of the Moslem faith.

This Good Friday and culmination of Lent in Easter find the Christian church in a historic period of self-inspection and renewal. There is a strong tendency within the church — especially in the Catholic faith, but actually pervading nearly all major Christian faiths — to examine doctrine and particularly liturgical practice, and to relate them to the authority that reaches back to the founding of Christianity in the teachings of Christ and which de-emphasizes the ceremonial with which worship has become encumbered.

And there is a great struggle with conscience as the Christian church examines its role in today's society, so greatly changed from the pastoral time of Jesus by the trend toward city living and industrialization; by great affluence and by physical possessions which make the gifts of the Wise Men seem mere tokens.

The materialism of the world puts great strains on religion and at the same time makes it more needed than ever.

Good Friday symbolizes an execution so many centuries ago on Calvary as a reminder to a troubled world of the triumph of selfless love.

Soviet Good Will

Radio Moscow had this to say about the hospital ship HOPE, which recently concluded a 10-month medical mission to Ceylon:

"The ship HOPE has actually brought no hope for cure to Ceylon and the vicinity, but only mortal danger. The floating carrier of death is the name the ship is given by the people of the countries where she has already been. Whenever the ship HOPE appears there are sudden outbreaks of epidemics.

"People suffer and die from severe diseases. For instance, in 1963, when the HOPE was close to the shores of Indonesia, there were outbreaks of cholera and smallpox in the cities of Sourabaya, Malang and Solo. It was established that the American medics who had come there had carried out secret experiments on the local population with some sort of new vaccines and drugs.

"After the ship HOPE called at Guinea there was a sharp growth in mortality from poliomyelitis there. After a similar visit to Senegal there was an outbreak of yellow fever. In Nicaragua a severe form of meningitis spread, from which people died or became mental cases for life, following a visit of the HOPE.

"The ship is actually a floating branch of the world-notorious American center for chemical and bacteriological warfare in Fort Detrick, Maryland, U.S.A."

During the HOPE's stay in Ceylon, its staff treated more than 1,700 patients aboard ship and, with Ceylonese doctors, conducted 1,280 operations. More than 3,000 patients were treated in the ship's dental department and some 70,000 children were immunized against diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus.

When the ship left for its home base of Philadelphia on February 10, more than 20,000 people from all over the little country came to say goodbye.

VISITORS WATCH and listen as one of the long ships of the Great Lakes fleet of freighters whistles a salute in passing the Dossin Great Lakes Museum on Belle Isle, Detroit. According to the Michigan Tourist Council, more than a quarter of a million people annually view the Great Lakes memorabilia on display at the museum. (Michigan Tourist Council Photo)

Great Lakes Museum Is Popular With Tourists

Passing ships blow their stacks when they sail by the Dossin Great Lakes Museum on Detroit's Belle Isle.

Actually, it's a whistle salute to be whistled at, the pride of a city whose love affair with the water is more than two centuries old.

In a day when Great Lakes commercial ships are becoming bigger—and fewer—the Dossin Museum tells the lore of the lakes in such a lively manner that more than one-quarter of a million people visit it annually, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

Operated by the City of Detroit, the museum is the only specifically marine museum on the Great Lakes and it touches on lakes history from Commodore Perry's cannon that beat the British on Lake Erie in 1813 to prohibition era rum-runners to the record-setting Gold Cup class powerboat Miss Pepsi.

The Miss Pepsi, seemingly nothing more than a fragile hull built around a gigantic, 3,500-horsepower airplane engine, established a number of unlimited class records during her career and she's one of the museum's most popular exhibits.

And, going from the sleek to the gingerbread, the ornate, carved oak Gothic Room from the City of Detroit III has been restored in the museum complete with stained glass window.

A slight error was made in the window—it depicts "The French, Led by LaSalle, Discover Detroit." It wasn't really LaSalle—it was Cadillac.

No mistake was made though in giving the City of Detroit III the most lavish appointments on the lakes and few ocean liners were more elaborate than the three stack sidewheeler that was launched in 1912. Besides the Gothic Room the ship had a Palm Court, Corinthian Salon and Marie Antoinette Drawing Room.

The City of Detroit III measured 455 feet, eight inches long and carried 1,440 passengers between Detroit, Cleveland and Buffalo.

It took museum workers two years to restore the Gothic

Room and its fireplace and it is the focal point of the collection on the D&C fleet of six sidewheelers that were popular as late as the 1940s.

A model of the 550-foot Greater Detroit is on display, too. She had 26 parlors and 780 staterooms. However, air travel and improved highways sounded the death knell for the lakes passenger fleet.

Scale models of other famous lake passenger ships and freighters are also on display as are the house flags of the ships that sail the Great Lakes. Henry Ford designed the Ford fleet flag, the "Blue Bird of Happiness," a blue bird on a yellow field. The museum has nearly 100 house flags and flies a different one each day.

There aren't any flags from the rum-running fleet, these small, swift motorboats that raced from the Canadian shore to the Detroit side during prohibition carrying whisky and beer—they wanted to remain inconspicuous.

But up from the bottom came souvenirs of the time—a white whisky bottle, a green beer bottle, still capped, and a homemade blackjacked.

There are souvenirs, too, and a sizeable collection relating to the three-masted schooner J.T. Wing, last commercial sailing ship on the Great Lakes and the initial home of the Great Lakes museum.

The wing was built in Nova Scotia in 1919 and after Atlantic and Caribbean duty arrived in the lakes prior to World War II. She was converted into a museum in 1949 but seven years later had to be burned in

Family Lawyer

PRESUMED DEAD

One fine morning Watson kissed his wife, departed for the office . . . and dropped out of sight. Years passed with no clue to his whereabouts. Finally Mrs. Watson, despairing of his return, put in a claim for her missing husband's life insurance.

But the insurance company refused to pay off without "proof of death." Mrs. Watson promptly took the matter to court.

"Seven years have gone by without any sign of my husband," she argued. "Surely he must be dead."

This made sense to the court, which ordered the insurance company to pay her claim. The judge said:

"A normal person will not, if alive, remain away from his home for seven years without communicating with his family or friends."

By and large, courts follow this "seven-year rule." That is, they accept a presumption of death after seven years of unexplained absence.

But the absence must indeed be unexplained. The presumption does not apply if there is some other logical explanation, besides death, for the person's disappearance.

Thus, another wife's attempt to collect her husband's life insurance was denied, even though she had not heard from him for eight years. The court noted that the missing man had abandoned his family once before, that he was a fugitive from justice, and that his girl friend had vanished at the same time—all good reasons for him to "lie low."

Nor does the presumption of death apply if there has been no reasonable effort to locate the missing person. For example, a court refused to presume that an absent husband was dead, when it appeared that his wife had not even bothered to ask her in-laws if they knew where he was.

Suppose that, after the presumption has been accepted and the insurance paid, the "dead" man turns up alive. In a case where that did happen, the wife was required to refund the money to the insurance company.

The court could see no justice in letting her keep both her husband and his life insurance.

The lead - directing slam double is a fine gadget. Invented by Ted Lightner in the early '30s, it is used by the expert and average player today. The theory is that you don't double freely bid slams with any expectation of a big would beat the club slam, but it led to South becoming declarer at six no-trump.

West was smart enough to make a safe club lead but there was no way to beat six no-trump. South was sure that the double of the club slam showed both king of diamonds and ace of spades. Therefore he simply cashed seven clubs and three hearts to wind up with the king of spades and ace-queen of diamonds as his last three cards.

West did his best to escape from the hole he had dug himself into. He discarded down to the ace-deuce of spades and the singleton king of diamonds. But South was equal to the occasion and played his diamond ace to drop the king.

West tried to excuse his double of the club slam by pointing out that without a diamond opening, North could have made six clubs by that same line of play.

Ann Landers

Reason Secretaries Look So Attractive

Dear Ann: I'm a man who would like to sound a word of warning to wives everywhere. Including my own.

Recent statistics indicate that one-third of America's working force is female. In my own office there are at least five attractive women who are getting to look better to me every day. Because:

My wife is either too tired or she sits up until 2:00 A.M. watching TV and by the time she gets to bed I've given up hope and gone to sleep. Or, she has a back-ache, a head-ache, an earache. Or she's getting a cold. Or I'm getting a cold. Or — the children are still up. Or she's expecting a long distance call from her mother. Or, she's mad at me for something I said last night.

Recently you printed a column and suggested that a few wives around the country might want to tape it to their husband's shaving mirrors. May I suggest that this column be pinned to the appropriate pillows tonight? — Fed Up On Being Underfed

Dear Fed: You're not alone, fella. Every day I receive a handful of letters just like yours. Thanks for making your point so well. I hope it helps.

Dear Ann Landers: A mother who identified herself as "a person of modest means with five children to support" wrote about her 16-year-old daughter keeping steady company with "a big fat kid who, after raiding the refrigerator, opened her purse and took out all the dimes, which he saves." The money is the girl's allowance, and the mother wanted to know what to do about it.

You answered, "It's the girl's allowance to do with as she pleases." Then you added, mildly, "It is YOUR responsibility, however, to point out that the boy lacks character." You missed the boat, Ann. If the girl had earned the money, she could then do as she pleased with it. A high school girl's allowance is supposed to be spent on expenses. It should also teach her to handle money. If she abuses the allowance it should be discontinued.

The real question is, why does this girl feel so inadequate she is willing to cater to a moocher? What is she paying him for? When the girl is directed to look into her own motives she may discover some interesting and useful facts about herself. — E.K.

Dear E.K.: You are right. Your thinking went deeper than mine. Taking your point one step further, I'd like to add another thought. The girl who is so insecure that she will let a boy mooch dimes from her will eventually give him something much more valuable than money.

Dear Ann: Why is a man who wears women's clothes called a transvestite but a woman who wears men's clothes is considered stylish? — Salem, Ohio

Dear Salem: Have you looked around lately? Men are now wearing long hair, ruffled shirts, velvet pants, fur coats — and they aren't transvestites. The blurring of the sexes is what's happening, Baby.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: Putting a nylon slip over the pillow at night to keep from messing up a fancy hair-do was good. But here's my solution for keeping my hair style in place at night without using the usual nets, crepe paper, tissues, etc., etc.

Buy one yard of satin and make a pillowcase to sleep on. It's fantastic. Not a hair out of place come morning.

Fanny

Some ideas that come in are pretty wild and I wondered if this would work as well as a nylon slip. But satin IS smooth and I'm willing to try any idea.

So I made a pair of pillowcases from some beautiful pink satin. They are very cool and slick as an ice pond.

They work great. When I toss and turn at night, my hair slides with me and needs very little fixing the next morning.

So our deep appreciation and thanks to Fanny for tipping us off to her idea.

Those of you who do have an old satin evening dress that is way out of style, why don't you think of ripping it up and making a couple of pillowcases. And after all, why shouldn't deserving housewives sleep on satin?

If you don't have any satin around the house that you want to use for this, buy just enough for one pillowcase at the remnant counter next time you go to the store. You'll love it.

Heloise

Dear Heloise: I learned the hard way. If you have throw rugs or scatter rugs with what they call a non-skid finish on the backing please keep this backing CLEAN!

Use a vacuum cleaner, or suds them with a damp sponge once in awhile.

Remember, these rugs are usually put on highly polished floors and the backing absorbs the wax.

Every time I sweep, I turn the rug over and sweep the back, PLUS, I never wax the floor where I leave my throw rugs now.

Broken Bones

Dear Heloise: To me, oven-fried chicken is an easy and tasty dish. But making really delicious gravy from it has been something else.

Keeping the chicken warm while the crust was scraped, fat poured off, and liquid added—then stirring and stirring used to take lots of extra time.

Now, I freeze the crust and grease from the time before. I just get this out of the freezer and fix the gravy while the chicken and other food is cooking! Everything is hot and ready at the same time.

The crust and grease left from the present batch go back into the freezer.

Dear Gals:

Next time you're trying to turn a belt after sewing it together... instead of using those infernal scissors, go get the biggest screwdriver in the tool chest. It turns that belt like magic without punching holes in it.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I had trouble storing my kettle covers. So I found a heavy carton just the right width for the largest lid and stacked them standing on edge according to size, with the smallest in front.

I have a shelf in the stove and now I can pull the box out easily and take out the lid I want. No more hunting and shuffling.

Pearl T. Welch

Never throw old tooth brushes away. Wet or dry they are so useful.

When scrubbing the floor, keep one in your pail for cleaning in corners, under the wall radiators, and around the feet of the stove and refrigerator.

When you clean house, keep one in your pocket for cleaning in corners of sewing machine, figurines, inside corners of pictures, and around furniture.

New ones are great for teeth!

Parking And Traffic Debated By Council

Problems of parking in three blocks of Ludington St. west of the metered zone and of traffic flow in wintertime on all city streets were discussed at length by the Escanaba City Council Thursday night.

Acting on recommendations of the Safety Committee and City Manager George Harvey the Council approved limiting parking to not more than one hour in the 1400, 1500 and 1600 blocks of Ludington St.

The regulation will be in effect as soon as appropriate signing can be installed in the three blocks. Presently the parking time limit is two hours and according to petitioners many cars are there all day.

The city manager told the Council that police will mark the tires and issue overtime parking tickets to violators.

Overnight Parking

Harvey advised against extending parking meters to the three blocks at this time because of the expense involved. He said the cost would be high.

and that while the meters would pay for themselves over a period of time he wanted to test the effectiveness of limited parking as approved by the Council.

Increased metered parking might also require the hiring of an additional meter maid, since the metered area now begins in front of the County Building in the 300 block of Ludington St.

The Council debated at some length a recommendation of the Safety Committee to limit parking to one side of the street through the period Dec. 1-April 1. This is the same period as the wintertime no overnight parking ordinance is in effect.

Cox Votes No

Advantages would include (as they did under emergency order last winter) an easier and safer flow of traffic. The Council discussed problems such as ticketing of persons from outside the city who might be unfamiliar with the regulation; and whether street widening might be a better solution to the problem. High cost of widening so many streets was cited as a deterrent.

The Council approved the ordinance in first reading and set the date of April 17 for final reading, public hearing and adoption.

In other business the Council adopted a resolution directing attention to Cancer Control Week April 13-19; and by formal resolution designated the city manager or his agent the representative of the city in collective bargaining and negotiations with the city employees.

On the question of a change in policy relative to charges levied by the city for water service installation, Councilman Edward J. Cox voted "no" on a proposal that would increase water installation costs to new dwellings or other new buildings.

Rate Raise Approved

The city manager said present cost for water service installation including a new outdoor-type meter is $130. The charge made by the city is $90.

City costs are going up and for new homes and new buildings he recommended that the exterior type meter be mandatory and the water service installation charge be raised to $150. There are about 4,700 water meters in the city and only about 200 are the new type, he said.

Cox questioned the higher rate and said that it did not give the customer a choice of whether he wants a meter inside or outside the building.

Voting in favor were Mayor Chase and Councilmen Robert Bink, Richard Pryal and Miles Dupuis. The motion carried and the new rate will become effective July 1.

Referred to the Planning Commission was a request from Red Owl Stores for vacating N. 25th St. to the railway tracks in the location where Red Owl will build a new shopping center.

The Council also referred to the Planning Commission a request of the Escanaba Foundation to purchase two parcels of land for future development.

Robert Arnold Taken By Death

Robert P. Arnold, 82, of 415 S. 10th St., died at 8 p. m., Thursday at St. Francis Hospital. He had been in ill health for six months.

He was born June 14, 1886 in Escanaba and had lived in Oregon and California for many years. He had resided in Escanaba for the past 12 years. Mr. Arnold was a member of St. Joseph's Church and was a retired civil engineer.

He is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Fred (Olive) Hirn of Escanaba and Mrs. William (Helen) Thomas of Van Nuys, Calif., and Mrs. Louis (Marion) Gross of Escanaba; one brother, George, of Walnut Creek, Calif.

Friends may call at the Alto Funeral Home from 4 to 9:30 p. m., Sunday and parish prayers will be recited at 11 a. m., Monday with the Rev. Jordan Telles officiating. Burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery.

Pickets Patrol Stamping Plant

DETROIT (AP) — A token force of pickets today patrolled gates of Chrysler Corp.'s stamping plant in suburban Sterling Heights after earlier unrelenting resulted in 21 arrests and a court order to limit picketing.

Chrysler, meanwhile, closed three Detroit-area assembly facilities, idling a total of 18,550 workers. The Sterling Heights factory employs 3,500 and turns out stampings for the three assembly plants.

The stamping plant workers, members of United Auto Workers Local 1264, walked out Wednesday after Chrysler suspended 12 union officers in a row over safety standards.

Local 1264 President James Sexton, one of those suspended, said the union was protesting what he said were safety hazards in removing scrap metal from a conveyor pit.

"The scrap was so sharp you could shave with it," he said. He said jagged pieces of metal were piled four feet high and were covered with oil drippings. A Chrysler spokesman denied any safety hazard and said the workers were given gloves and shovels to handle the scrap.

Sault Locks Opened Today

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — The Thunder Bay, a 663-foot steamship, today opened the upper Great Lakes shipping season by becoming the first vessel of 1969 to pass northbound through the locks at Sault Ste. Marie.

The Canada Steamship Lines vessel carried 13,000 tons of crushed limestone through the MacArthur Lock at 7:45 a. m., en route to Algoma Steel Corp. in Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., on Monday and picked up its cargo near Rogers City.

In shipboard ceremonies, Capt. Jim Smiley of Port Credit, Ont., and Chief Engineer Wally Allison of Port Catherine, Ont., received engraved pewter mugs.

Cigars were passed out to the crew members by a welcoming delegation from the Sault Chamber of Commerce.

The Thunder Bay is the first self-unloader to make the season-opening northward trip through the locks in the 114-year history of the waterway.

The passage, just about on time with other season-opening trips, traditionally inaugurates the busy shipping season for Lake Superior.

At least two other large vessels were expected to reach the locks late today or Saturday bound for Lake Superior.

Meanwhile, Capt. Otto Unsinn of the Coast Guard icebreaker Mackinaw, said ice remains thick in Whitefish Bay, the bay leading to Lake Superior from the St. Mary's River.

He said about a foot of recently fallen snow is packed on the ice and that his vessel was slowed to about 200 yards an hour in its icebreaking runs this week.

Crockett Sticks To His Decision

DETROIT (AP) — Though he admits he may have been wrong, Judge George W. Crockett is sticking by his decision in ordering the release last week of more than 100 prisoners held briefly after a shooting incident which left a policeman dead and another wounded.

Four Negroes were also wounded in a hail of gunfire at a Detroit church which had been rented by the militant Republic of New Africa for a national convention.

"It was my thinking—I may be wrong—but it was my thinking that the making of nitrate tests is a critical stage of the prosecution," Judge Crockett said Thursday in a news conference called to explain his views. He said he felt his actions were legal, proper and moral.

Nitrate tests are used by police to determine if persons have fired guns recently.

The best way "to avert the kind of social disaster that occurred in 1967 is prompt judicial action with strict observance of constitutional rights," Crockett told newsmen.

On the eve of the first anniversary of the assassination of civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr., Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh issued a plea for restraint.

As Crockett prepared to address the packed courtroom on the second floor of Recorder's Court, crowds of supporters and opponents picketed below, separated by uniformed policemen.

There were no clashes between the two groups, one consisting of about 1,000 youths, mostly Negro, and the other off-duty policemen.

Both groups later observed a court order signed by all the judges of Recorder's Court, including Crockett, to stop picketing while court was in session.

Restaurant And School Entered

St. Patrick's School in Escanaba was broken into last night and extensive property damage was done, city police reported today.

Acts of vandalism included throwing food (including a crate of eggs) into the kitchen and stuffing school records into the toilets. There was no money in the building and nothing appeared to be missing, but the damage was extensive.

Tommy's Restaurant in Escanaba was also entered last night after a window was broken. There was no loss by theft so far as it has been determined.

Nugent Receives Papers Thursday

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The Air Force says Airman I.C. Patrick J. Nugent, son-in-law of former President and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, will receive his discharge next Thursday.

Nugent, whose wife is the former Luci Johnson, returned this week from a year of duty in Vietnam during which he was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross as loadmaster of a transport plane.

MR. AND MRS. James E. Doran, 1409 3rd Ave. N., have been informed that their son, James A. Doran of the 142nd Transportation Co., has been promoted to specialist fourth class in Vietnam where he has served since Sept. 12. He is a 1967 graduate of Escanaba Area High School.

New Ore Terminal Gets First Boat

First ore boat of the 1969 season will arrive at Escanaba about 9:30 tonight and first loading at the Chicago & North Western's new $16.5 million ore terminal will start Saturday morning.

The Henry Ford of the Ford Motor Co. will take on about 11,000 tons of pellet ore from the Groveland Mine and will clear with her cargo for Dearborn sometime Saturday.

No other loadings are scheduled by the North Western until the operation is completely checked out after the loading of the Ford. Larry Provo, C&NW president, has predicted that total ore loaded out at Escanaba this year will go well over the former record of 6,700,000 tons in 1967.

Last year the North Western moved 6,200,000 tons or iron ore — about 60 per cent of its pellets — through Escanaba.

Arrival of the Henry Ford tonight will be a later opening of ore shipping than a year ago, when the Rye-son came in at 11:45 a. m. on March 31.

Pesticide Council Calls For Action

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Pesticide Council has called for "aggressive corrective action to be taken immediately," to control the buildup of pesticides in Lake Michigan.

"Michigan's multi-million dollar Coho Salmon program stands at the brink of catastrophe because of the steady buildup of persistent pesticides in the environment and their concentration in food chains in Lake Michigan," the council warned.

The State Department of Natural Resources announced Thursday it plans to resume spring plantings of salmon in Lake Michigan streams.

The department called a temporary halt to the releases after 22,555 pounds of frozen Coho shipped into Michigan from Wisconsin and Minnesota were impounded by the federal Food and Drug Administration.

State Department Director Ralph MacMullan said the fish taken in open waters of Lake Michigan had not shown any where near the levels of DDT and Dieldrin that appeared in fish captured in stream weirs.

"We are going to watchdog the pesticide situation in Lake Michigan like it never has been checked before," MacMullan said.

The pesticides council said evidence of the effect of such chemicals on humans is far from complete.

"But research is suggesting subtle long term effects on the liver and nervous system," the council said. "We must remember that man, like the Coho salmon, is at the end of a food chain."

The council is composed of such groups as the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, Michigan Audubon Society, Michigan Federated Garden Clubs, and the West Michigan Environmental Action Club. It claims to represent some 200,000 people.

St. Jacques Deer Killed By Car Wears 1962 Tag

An 8 year old doe deer that was tagged with a yellow collar in 1962 was killed recently by a car on U. S. 2 near St. Jacques in Delta County.

The deer was in excellent physical condition with much visceral fat and heavy fat about the kidneys and heart. She also carried two female embryos.

The collar, though frayed was still strong and quite brightly colored. The deer was killed about a quarter mile from where she was tagged or collared six years ago by Conservation Officer Charles Bowen, Rapid River. The deer was autopsied by Game Biologist Joseph Vogt.

District Game Biologist Floyd Schemenauer of Newberry reports that as of last week he has autopsied 72 deer in the Newberry District. Most of these deer were killed by cars and were in good physical condition.

Canada To Cutback Its NATO Forces

Nixon administration of the action. The size of the reduction was not announced.

During his visit to Washington last week Trudeau reportedly told President Nixon he was under strong Cabinet and parliamentary pressures in Ottawa to break with NATO entirely. But he told his Parliament "NATO is an alliance that is, for the time being, necessary—we are staying in NATO."

Official U.S. reaction to Trudeau's announcement was based on the view that he had reached a moderate decision. A State Department spokesman said, "We look forward to consultations in NATO on Canada's plans regarding its NATO force commitment."

Israel, Egypt In Suez Dual

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli and Egyptian artillery duelled across the Suez Canal today for the first time in 11 days.

The Israeli army said Egyptian troops began the exchange at 10:30 a. m. with small arms fire directed at Israeli soldiers on the occupied east bank of the waterway.

"At 11 o'clock the Egyptians opened artillery fire on our forces at the southern end of the canal in the region of Port Taufiq," an Israeli spokesman said. "Our forces returned the fire and it is continuing," he reported at 11:15 a. m.

It was the first large-scale fighting reported on the Israeli-Egyptian cease-fire line since March 24. In several other artillery battles earlier in March the Egyptian industrial complex at Port Suez was reported badly damaged.

Car-Killed Deer Triple In Area, Caution Urged

A car strikes a deer on U.S.-2 east of Rapid River. Another kills a deer on M-35 south of Escanaba. Still a third report of a motorist hitting a deer comes from the Watson area.

Reports of motorists hitting deer this winter are becoming everyday events with the State Police of the Gladstone Post and indications are that unless more caution is used on area highways this month the number of deer killed by automobiles will get worse before it gets better.

Joseph Vogt, game biologist for the Department of Natural Resources, today confirmed police observations that the number of car-killed deer has jumped drastically in the first three months this year over a comparable period last year.

Close To Highways Although complete tabulations for March are not available, at least 56 deer have been killed in the Escanaba District of the DNR, nearly triple the 19 killed in 1968.

Motorists killed 15 deer in January, 22 in February and at least 19 in March.

"For some reason deer are hanging closer to the highways," Vogt said. "I also think there are more deer in the woods this year."

Ray Couillard Dies Thursday

Raymond Couillard, 51, of Tullahoma, Tenn., died Thursday at the Tullahoma Hospital. He had been in ill health for the past year.

He was born October 14, 1917, in Wells and had been a resident of Tullahoma for the past 25 years, where he was self-employed as an electrician.

He is survived by his wife, the former Delores Denno; three sisters, Mrs. Fred (Olive) Diekroeger of Tullahoma and Mrs. Harvey (Rita) Wellman and Mrs. Robert (Marie) Engdahl of Wells; one brother, William E. Couillard of Wells and 14 nieces and nephews. A son, William, preceded him in death on Oct. 4, 1964.

Friends may call at the Alto Funeral Home from 4 to 9:30 Sunday and the parish prayers will be recited at 8 Sunday evening. Funeral services will be held at St. Anthony's Church in Wells Monday at 9 a. m. with the Rev. Andre Papineau officiating. Burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery.

Briefly Told

Escanaba police have issued traffic court notices to John H. Bennett, Escanaba Rte. 1, for reckless driving, and to Timothy L. Curran, Kingsford, improper turn.

A warrant charging assault and battery against Raymond Burns of Manistiquette Rte. has been issued by Delta District Court on complaint of Jacqueline Lemerand, 217 N. 12th St., Escanaba.

Impellant Lodge No. 460, I.O.O.F., will hold rehearsal for First and Second Degrees at 8 p. m. Monday, April 7. Degree teams are requested to attend lunch after rehearsal.

The Escanaba Assembly of God Church, the Hannanville Assembly of God Church and the Gladstone Church of God will hold joint Good Friday services tonight at 7:30 at the Escanaba Assembly of God Church at 301 N. 15th St.

The Delta County Chapter of the Michigan Association for Retarded Children will meet Monday evening, April 7, at the Kennedy School. The meeting will be preceded by a potluck supper beginning at 6:30. Ray Pawlowski of Menominee will be the guest speaker and his subject will be the operation of a sheltered workshop. Interested guests are welcome.

Robert W. Dabney, 21, of 101 1st St., Wells, was charged with reckless driving and driving on a revoked license by State Police Thursday night. Officers said Dabney was arrested about 9 p. m. on Main St., Wells, after troopers on patrol noticed him driving erratically. Dabney was lodged in the county jail pending arraignment in District Court today.

State Police ticketed Francis R. Johnson, 22, Rte. 1, Escanaba, for violation of the basic speed law after he lost control of his car on a curve on County Rd. 426 in Wells Township and rolled over. Johnson was not injured, officers said. Other traffic summonses were issued Thursday to Thomas Wilson, Kalamazoo, speeding, and Melvin Klug, 309 N. 20th St., improper left turn.

Vogt pointed out that this is the time of the year when deer come out to highways to feed on exposed grass and also lick salt and that this probably will continue until snow leaves the woods.

On M-35 between Perkins and Rock one night this week, one motorist counted at least eight deer in a stretch of sev-

Corn Available For 'Feeders'

Because of the slow arrival of spring, another supply of corn is being made available to "cooperators" to continue to feed deer, the Dept. of Natural Resources announced today.

Corn is available at DNR offices in Escanaba and Marquette and only those persons previously registered as "feeders" should apply, according to Joseph Vogt, game biologist. No new "feeders" are being solicited.

"The supply of corn is to tide yarding deer over until warmer weather and snow clear fields release them from winter yards," Vogt said. "There is still over two feet of snow in the northern parts of the district."

The Escanaba office will be open from 8 a. m. to noon Saturday and next week daily from 8 a. m. to noon and 1 to 5 p. m.

eral miles. There also have been reports of concentrations of deer along M-35 between Escanaba and Menominee and east of Rapid River.

"Car kills have been occurring all through the winter," Vogt said. "Almost all of the kills occur where U.S.-2 runs through a yarding area."

Areas Cited

He pointed out that sizable numbers of deer have been struck by cars and killed on U.S.-2 in the St. Jacques hill area, on U.S.-2 east of Rapid River in the Whitefish yarding area and also on M-35 south of Escanaba where the highway runs through the Nelson-Peterson yard.

County Rd. 426 in the Watson-Arnold yarding area also has been hazardous, Vogt said.

Fortunately, State Police said, no serious injuries have resulted to motorists hitting deer, but many automobiles have been severely damaged. Troopers also emphasized that drivers and passengers have been injured in the past and urged caution when driving in known deer areas.

It would be simple enough, officers said, for a driver to lose control of his car after hitting a deer and run off the road, striking a tree.

Illegal Game Costs $3,683

The Department of Natural Resources Law Division in the Upper Peninsula reports 1,678 arrests were made by conservation officers in 1968, an increase of 36 per cent over 1967.

Courts assessed a total of $26,535 in fines and $11,603 in court costs. The fine monies revert to the State Library Fund. Liquefied damages charged for animals taken illegally amounted to $3,683 for the Game and Fish Protection Fund.

Three rifles, one revolver, two shotguns, a boat and trailer, several traps and an assortment of fish nets were confiscated during the year.

Hunting License Cheating Costly

In a recent check of hunting and fishing licenses purchased in the Upper Peninsula, the Department of Natural Resources disclosed that 136 arrests were made of non-residents who claimed residency in Michigan when purchasing hunting or fishing licenses. Law officers report 116 arrests of nonresidents claiming residency in Michigan when purchasing deer hunting licenses. Another 20 were prosecuted for purchasing resident small game and resident fishing licenses.

Michael Laurich Wins Scholarship

MARQUETTE — Michael Laurich, Route 1, Rapid River, a freshman chemistry major at Northern Michigan University, has been named recipient of the Glen Morey scholarship for the 1969-70 academic year. The $300 scholarship was established by Dr. Morey, a research chemist who is president of Glas-Col Apparatus Co. of Terre Haute, Ind., and London, England.

City May Place Limit On Paving

Escanaba may have to limit its paving program to three streets in the coming fiscal year and spend more on street maintenance, City Manager George Harvey told the Council Thursday night.

There are 12 petitions for paving on file at the City Hall. Harvey recommended that paving be limited to three. Final decision will be made by the Council on the basis of budget.

The discussion was triggered by a petition received from residents of S. 19th St., an alley-width street on the west side of the golf course, for which the city does not have all of the necessary easements.

Need Right of Way

Residents want the dirt street surfaced with blacktop. The city manager said it will cost property owners $2.40 per front foot for the improvement without curbing or drainage for a 20-foot alley-width street. The street carries much traffic and is the cause of complaint because it is rough and dusty.

Street improvements will have to be made in the location of the new post office west of 23rd St. and in the industrial development area at 20th Ave. N.

The requested renovation of S. 19th along the golf course between 10th and 12th Aves. S. would require removal of the golf course trees if the street width were extended from 20 to 30 feet, said Harvey.

The Council postponed decision until next meeting, when a report on acquisition of right of way is received.

In other business the Council appointed Paul Laviolette of 330 S. 9th St. to the Housing, Building, and Fire Code Appeal Board to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of William Beyersdorf.

Plant Expansion

Authorized the conveyance of three lots in the former court house site from the City to the Housing Commission as sites for dwellings to be removed from the Senior Citizens apartment project in the 500 block, Ludington St. The three residents to be removed to the new site were selected by the Housing Commission.

Gave first reading to an ordinance providing for enforcement of the marine safety act at the Escanaba yacht basin. Second reading will be on April 17.

Referred to the Planning Commission a request of Andex Industries to purchase additional land for purpose of expansion; and approved cooperation with Clairmont Transfer Co. and local banks in obtaining the benefit of municipal interest rates in financing the relocation of Clairmont Transfer Co. The city will own and lease the property to Clairmont for 15 years.

Eda N. Empson Dies Thursday In Pontiac

Eda N. Empson, 98, died last night in the Pontiac Nursing Home in Pontiac, Mich. She was born on Jan. 19, 1871 in Grand Rapids. Her husband preceded her in death.

She was a former school teacher in Gladstone and was a member of the coterie and the Gladstone Child Welfare Club.

She is survived by two sons, Freeman of Detroit and George of Abaco, West Indies and 2 grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are being made by the Anderson-Johns Funeral Home and services are tentatively set for Tuesday.

Resident Looks At Riot Scene

CHICAGO (AP) — "Ain't it a bitch to come home to something like this?" asked Earl Bowman as he walked through the dark, glass-littered streets of the Near North Side.

Thirty police with gas masks, riot sticks and shotguns eyed Bowman, a 32-year-old Negro.

"I didn't know nothing about this. I just got off the bus and I see all these police," Bowman said.

He rubbed his eyes. "The first thing was my eyes burning. I didn't know it was tear gas," he said.

A policeman told Bowman he could walk safely to his home in one of the large Cabrini housing project buildings on Division Street.

"We're just stopping people under 21," the officer added. "This is a real shame," Bowman said. Across the street a cash register, rifled and pulled from the office of a currency exchange, was sitting upright in the sidewalk.

The windows of the exchange were smashed and the steel grates were ripped from the bricks.

"Why'd they do this, man?" Bowman asked, buttoning the collar of his overcoat to ward off the chill of the spring night.

Attach Post To Concrete Floor

By ANDY LANG

Q: There is a concrete patio at the back of our house. I plan on enclosing it. I have been told to use 4 by 4s for the support posts at the lower end of the roof. But how do I attach the posts to the concrete?

A: The trick is to use a steel dowel about six inches long for each post, half of which will be set in the concrete and the other half inside the bottom of the post. If you can't get dowels of the proper size, you may have to cut a half-inch steel rod into pieces of the necessary lengths. The most difficult part of the project is making a hole in the concrete into which half of the dowel is inserted. You'll have to use a star drill of the right size or a power drill with a carbide-tipped bit.

Sometimes the hole will be of exactly the right size and you'll have no problem. But sometimes the sides of the hole will chip away and the dowel will fit too loosely, in which case you'll have to fill the hole with a concrete mix and then after it has set a little, push the dowel into it, being sure that it is absolutely vertical. After a day or two, it will have hardened sufficiently to continue with the job.

Drill a hole three inches long into the center of the bottom of the post. Make the hole slightly smaller in diameter than that of the steel dowel. Next, place the post over the dowel and hammer into place. Use a wooden mallet or, if you don't have one, place a heavy piece of wood on top of the post and hammer down on that.

The top plates — usually 2 by 8s — will hold the posts steady when they are put into place. But, until this is done, it is wise to hold the posts in proper alignment with 1 by 2s, 1 by 3s or 2 by 3s. Be sure to use screws, not nails, so that the wood strips can be removed easily if they later interfere with the placement of screens or storm windows.

EASE OF MAINTENANCE of this two-bedroom ranch, with its potential for a retirement couple, is assured by the use of brick on all four sides. Door to right of garage leads to a laundry-utility room, which can also be reached from the garage and the kitchen.

Retirement Home Luxury

By ANDY LANG

Specialization, a characteristic of this era, also has its place in the design of a home. This comfortable two-bedroom ranch has been created specifically for a retirement couple or a small family.

It is a charming and cozy, yet roomy house, well-zoned and laid out by architect Samuel Paul for ease of movement, privacy, quiet and convenience. Beyond this are the luxury touches and features which take it out of the realm of the ordinary.

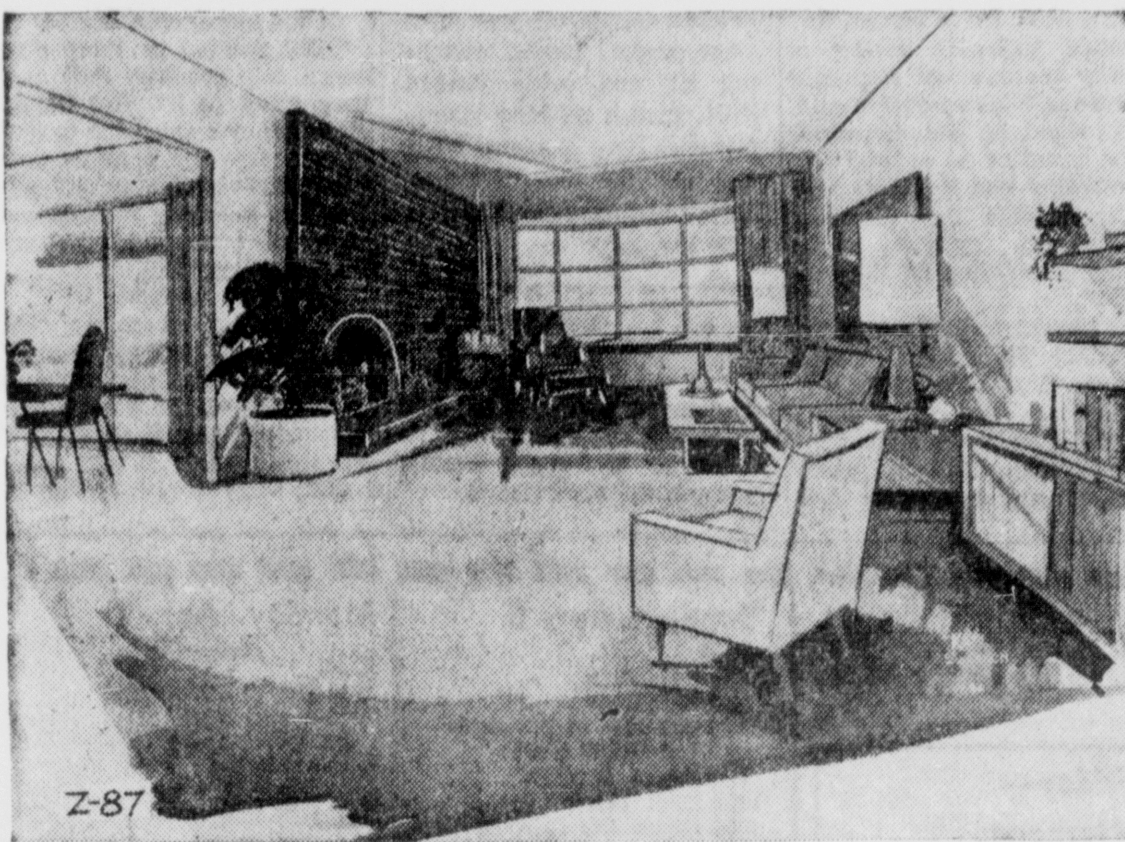

The exterior presented to the street is a simple ranch style with a large covered porch and picturesque bow window. The house is brick all around for ease of maintenance and features wood windows for warmth. The entrance is from the porch into a central foyer with two guest closets. Access to all rooms from there is easy and convenient, with the halls and doors extra wide so that movement is facilitated.

Z-87 STATISTICS

Design Z-87 is a ranch with a living room, dining room, kitchen, screened porch, foyer, two bedrooms and two baths, totaling 1230 square feet. A utility-laundry room adjoins the kitchen, and there is a workshop-storage area behind the one-car garage. Over-all dimensions are 59' 6" by 37' 6".

A spacious eat-in kitchen is immediately adjacent to the left of the foyer. It is highlighted by a sizable bow window in daylight all day long. There is a sink area with knee space underneath, enabling the housewife to sit while working. A dishwasher and a self-cleaning, eye-level oven and range eliminate the need to stoop. These features are a luxury for the regular housewife, but they fill a true need for the elderly one. To the rear of the foyer is a living room with a log-burning fireplace and a raised hearth. A lovely bow window overlooks the rear garden. An adjoining formal dining room has convenient access to the kitchen plus rear sliding doors leading to a long screened rear porch. Located on the porch is a brick barbecue adjacent to the same chimney.

To the right of the foyer is a private bedroom wing, which includes two bedrooms, a full bath and good-sized closets. The front bedroom would make an ideal guest room or den if there are no children living at home. The private rear bedroom has sliding glass doors leading to a rear terrace. The bath has an oversize slip-resistant tub and a water closet hung from the wall for ease of cleaning.

Storage and work space have not been overlooked. To the rear of the attached one-car garage is a roomy workshop area, an ideal space for putting-into storage space for outdoor furniture is right off the screened porch. A large walk-in closet opens on the side of the garage.

Adjacent to the kitchen is a laundry-utility room, with a side door entry to the house only one short step off the driveway, plus interior access to the garage and a storage cabinet with a foldaway ironing board. The garage itself is extra wide for additional storage and has an over-sized door for ease of maneuvering.

Although modest in size, with only 1230 square feet of habitable space, this home has plenty of livability packed into it. The living area is built on a crawl space with wood-finish flooring and is engineered to eliminate the need of any steps to the front stoop or out from the rear.

Clean Roof Gutters Won't Do You Dirt

By MR. FIX

Most problems with gutters and downspouts can be corrected with little more than a cleaning. Now and then repairs may be in order but if tended to promptly, before damage has gone too far, this need not be a tremendous chore.

Leaking roof gutters fail to carry water to the downspout and then away from the house. An overflow will saturate the earth around the foundation and if there are weak spots in foundation waterproofing, water may seep into the basement.

More immediate are stains on the siding and eventually the peeling of paint. Water also may work its way through cracks in the wall or back under the roof, resulting in water staining of interior walls and ceilings.

Gutters need cleaning several times a year. You will need a long extension ladder, one that will reach well above the edge of the roof so that you can look down into the gutter as you work.

Use a stiff brush to clean out the gutter. A small garden trowel can be used to scoop up the debris. Hang a bucket from your ladder for the dirt you gather.

Make certain that openings into downspouts are protected with a screen or plastic cage made especially for that purpose. With such an item in place you will find that this is where you will find the greatest buildup of leaves, twigs and dirt.

Protective screens are available that can be put over the gutter itself, the theory being that leaves will gather on the surface and then blow away. Such mesh coverings work if leaves are your only problem. For smaller dirt they can be a mixed blessing since the dirt filters through and then the only way to clean the gutter is to pry off the covering.

Water may not flow through the gutters properly because they are sagging. Simply re nail the hangers. There should be a slight pitch toward the downspout.

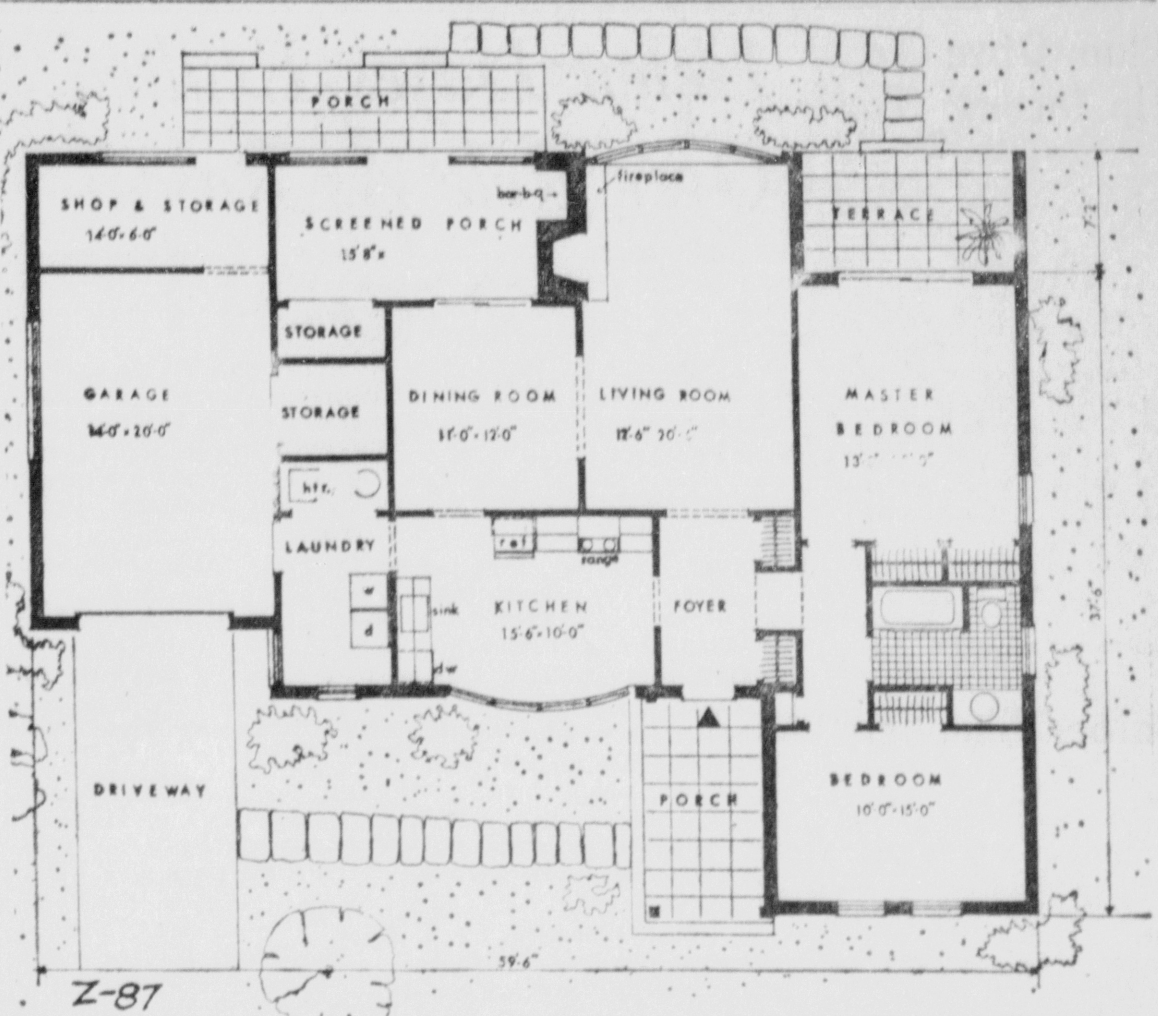

Protect the inside surface of metal gutters with liquid roof coating. This will seal minor cracks. Openings large enough to cause leaks can be repaired. Clean out the rust, coat with roof coating and place a piece of heavy-duty aluminum foil over this, then apply more roof coating. Fiberglass patches used with a special resin also are available. Used as directed, they will last indefinitely.

Outside surfaces of gutters and downspouts should be sanded of peeling paint and rust and then repainted with a rust-resistant paint.

Sometimes water will gush out because the downspout has pulled away from the gutter. Get the downspout back in place and then use additional metal straps to hold it firmly against the house.

Downspouts may get filled with debris, too. Sometimes tapping with a heavy stick will loosen the matter. If this fails, run a hose down the downspout and then turn on the water to flush it out. If this fails use a plumber's snake to break through.

FLOOR PLANS: Excellent traffic arrangement for a small family. A retirement couple could utilize the front bedroom as a guest room or den. Note private terrace and screened porch at the rear. Living room has large bow window and brick-walled fireplace.

7% Tax Credit Up For Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration apparently will oppose a congressional drive to repeal the 7 per cent investment tax credit denounced by critics as an "engine of inflation."

Tuesday, the Democratic majority of the Senate-House Economic Committee recommended abolition of the tax credit, which allows businesses to reduce their income tax payments by an amount equal to 7 per cent of what they paid for new equipment.

Most of the committee's Republican members disagreed. Their minority view was shared by administration officials in private interviews, although the administration has taken no public stand on the question.

"I don't find much sympathy in the administration for proposals to suspend or repeal the tax credit," one high official said. He explained:

"We're not in any crisis that requires measures different from the anti-inflation package we have outlined—to cut spending, get the 10 per cent surtax extended, keep restraint on credit."

But in Congress the pressures for suspension of the tax credit have mounted rapidly since last month's official disclosure that U. S. corporations plan a 14 per cent increase from last year in their outlays for plant and equipment. Capital investment on that scale, many economists agree, would add fuel to inflation.

The issue is expected to develop into a major debate; it may break out soon, when Congress takes up President Nixon's request for a one-year extension of the 10 per cent surtax on individual and corporate incomes.

Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy, in recent Congressional testimony said the repeal idea would be among the tax questions studied by his staff. But he declined to endorse it or to give priority to its study. Labor has lined up with the repeal forces. President George Meany of the AFL-CIO testified that killing the tax credit would not only help curb inflation but would release some investment funds to support home building.

Business takes the opposite tack, although industry groups opposed the idea in 1962 when the late President John F. Kennedy persuaded Congress to approve it.

Plan Drive To Up Income Tax

LANSING (AP) — A group of Democratic and Republican legislators is planning a petition drive to ask voters to raise state income taxes and cut property taxes to pay school operating expenses.

Backers of the drive said Thursday the proposed referendum would seek a hike to six or seven per cent in the 2.6 per cent state personal income tax and a boost to 10 per cent in the 5.6 per cent state corporate income tax.

Plans call for the issue to be placed on the November 1970 ballot if 200,000 registered voters sign the petitions.

Helen Hayes Exulted Over Role As Rascal

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Yes, I'm playing a real rascal, and what a joy it is: The nice thing about being a character actress is that you get a chance to play such fascinating parts."

Helen Hayes was exulting over what she termed a brand new career. She is performing in her first movie since "Anastasia" in 1956. Her role: Ada Quonsetti, the sweet little lady who is a professional showgirl in "Airport," the all-star Universal version of Arthur Hailey's best-selling novel.

"A whole new field has opened up for me since I played in 'The Show-Off' on the stage," remarked Miss Hayes. "I played a real hardball in that one, and audiences loved her because she aimed her scorn at the show-off."

Lack Dimension
"And oh, how lovely it is to be able to grab hold of a real character."

actor. The trouble with being a star when you are younger—particularly if you have some reputation for uprightness—is that the roles you get lack dimension. My most successful role was Queen Victoria, which I enjoyed because she was portrayed as a rather headstrong, willful and sometimes foolish woman.

"Now I'm looking forward to a new career as a character actress. I enjoyed my recent column about the decline of experienced character performers in films, it gave me a hope that other producers might hire me."

Miss Hayes emphasized that her future work would be in films and television only.

Retired From Stage
"I have retired from the stage," she declared. When I expressed doubt that she would abandon the theater after devoting 63 of her 68 years to it, she said: "No, I'm through; I just can't take the routine of eight performances a week any more. I've done it too long."

"When I finished up 'The Show-Off' in Washington, I made the announcement. I figured if I announced my retirement from the stage in public I would be too ashamed to change my mind later."

Asks Study Of Civil Disorders

LANSING (AP) — Citing an "eruption of armed violence" in Detroit last weekend, Senator Geo. Kuhn R-Birmingham, has called for a special legislative committee study of civil disorders.

Kuhn introduced a resolution for a seven-member committee to "investigate, review and confer with appropriate authorities on matters of civil disturbance."

Kuhn's resolution cites "extraordinary matters involving security of the general population" and points to the recent racial incident in which a white Detroit policeman was shot to death.

"The need for a central and objective statewide review of security matters has escalated to urgency," the resolution said.

"We stand on the threshold of the 'point of no return,' and the citizenry can rightfully hold us accountable for adequate measure and action to insure full implementation for their security."

The special committee would be "under the control of the Michigan Senate for objectivity and legislative interpretation. . . to insure that, in the attainment of civil rights of the minorities, the equal rights of other citizens are not subjected to violence."

'Get Smart' In Network Switch

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — If you're looking for a cliff-hanging adventure in television programming, consider the case of "Get Smart."

No, I don't mean the on-the-tube capers of Agent 86, also known as Maxwell Smart, the fallible operative of CONTROL. I'm referring to the real-life feat of comedian Don Adams in saving his television series from cancellation. Like Smart, Adams was a most reluctant hero.

You'll be seeing "Get Smart" for a fifth year, but on a different network. Rarely has a series switched networks ("My Three Sons," Alfred Hitchcock, Danny Thomas), and "Get Smart" almost didn't make it. Adams related the sequence of events:

"NBC notified us three days before the deadline that they were going to let 'Get Smart' go. But they wanted me to stay on and sign for specials next season and my own variety program the following year. It was a fantastic offer, and I was seriously considering it."

Won Emmies
"I was in-between on 'Get Smart.' In four years it had won a flock of Emmies, including two for myself, and I felt that it had made a real contribution to television comedy. I was ready to walk away from it and go on to producing and directing features, which I have long wanted to do."

On the other hand, he felt a loyalty to "Get Smart," and he was a trifle peeved at the way NBC had used it to bolster ratings of less promising shows.

"For a lead-in they had given us 'Please Don't Eat the Daisies,' which was like 89th in the ratings. Then it was 'Maya, The Jungle Elephant,' or whatever the hell it was. Then 'Adam 12.' We had to fight for our audience every season."

"Finally NBC put us opposite the second half-hour of Jackie Gleason. I don't mind facing the first half-hour of an hour show—but the second! Even so, 'Get Smart' managed to get a respectable rating."

With NBC
News of the "Get Smart" cancellation swept through the executive offices of the networks.

Rock

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Richards of Inkster and Judy Linjala of Detroit are spending Easter weekend with the Walter Linjala family in Rock and with his family, the John R. Richards in Escanaba. Mrs. Richards is the former Karen Linjala.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken LeDuc and Kenny had returned home to Walled Lake after visiting his family, the David LeDucs in Gladstone and her family, the Walter Linjals in Rock, when they were notified of his father's death and they had to return for the funeral. Mrs. LeDuc is the former Jeanne Linjala.

ABC came up with a reprieve of. Then CBS made a proposal to take over "Get Smart" and back Adams' production company in developing projects.

In the predawn hours before the NBC deadline, Adams spoke on the telephone with NBC's Herb Schlosser and CBS' Mike Dann. When the comedian finally went to sleep, he had decided to cast his lot with NBC.

Strikes-n-Spares

With Mike Utt

The bowling season is rapidly coming to a close in Escanaba and battles for league championships are shaping up in most of the leagues. The following is an example of a tight finish in one of the Holiday Bowl leagues which happened Tuesday, April 1, and it's no "April Fool."

X X X
Bun's Cito Service was nosed out of first place in the Tuesday Early Bird League at the Holiday by one pin. Going into the final night of bowling, Bun's held a half point lead over Drewry's and Drewry's took four points from Blatz, so Bun's needed four points to retain first place. However, they lost one game by one pin to Butch & Bob's Ski-Doos to fall into second place. Drewry's won the title with 70½ points, Bun's finished second with 70 points and Hamelin Pumps placed third with 69 points. How's that for a finish?

Alice Jones of the Drewry's team, the league leader in average, high game and high series, put a cap on it Tuesday night with a 576 series with games of 215, 194 and 167 to raise her average to 159.

X X X
There was no fooling around at the Bowl-A-Rama Lanes on Tuesday night either as Mel & Elmer's hit the highest team game of the year in the 7 p.m. Women's League with an 881 and a series of 2444. Shirley Rolstad had a 531 series and Cheryl Criel had a 501 for Mel & Elmer's. The big game scores were Cheryl Criel 177, Shirley Rolstad 186, Lu Barnhart 147, Elaine Fairchild 178 and Shirley Peltier 193.

"Buck" Hagman had her first 200 game of the year when she rolled a 205 in the same Tuesday night league. Her average is 128. Pat Johnston paced the women with a 216 game in a 541 series and Lois Cox had a 524 series.

X X X
Leonard Boudreau had a little trouble getting direct pocket hits Wednesday night at the Holiday Bowl and left five splits, but it didn't bother Leonard any though as he picked up four of them. Leonard nailed the 2-5-7, the 5-7-9 and the 3-10 twice. He missed his other split, the 4-7-9-10, when the 10 pin remained standing.

Splits also played an important role in the match between the Escanaba Daily Press and the Escanaba Machine Co. Tuesday night in the Bay de Noc League at the Bowl-A-Rama. Escanaba Machine won the match, 2835 to 2800, to take all four points although their biggest margin of victory was only 17 pins. Six splits were picked up by the two teams, all at crucial times. Split pickers for the Press were Dave Mason, the 4-5-7, Ed McCarthy, the 6-7, and Mike Utt, the 8-9 and the 3-10. Lou Parlato and Russ Willyard each got the 3-10 for Escanaba Machine.

X X X
Roland Palzewicz, bowling in the Holiday Major League last Saturday, picked up the 4-6-7-10 split, the only split besides the 7-10 for which the ABC awards a special patch.

Helen Knaus, bowling in the Friday night A.I.E. Mixed Couples League at the Bowl-A-Rama Lanes, rolled her first 200 game in league competition this past week. She had games of 169, 201 and 224 for a 549 series.

X X X
John Gardner and Dave Friets, the big bombers at the Continental Lanes, each had a nice series this past week. Gardner had games of 225, 198 and 205 in a 627 series and Friets bowled games of 235, 189 and 257 in a 681 series. Other big scorers at the Continental Lanes this past week were Dale LaPalm 232, John Johnson 242, Pat Johnston 204, Betty Dunlap 243 and Bruce Johnson 214.

X X X
Split Pickers: Pat Johnston, Judy Isaacson, Muriel Holmberg, Jackie Rodman, Lori DeMars, Judy Peltier, Shirley Helms, Jennie Aho, Nancy Hillgas, Dave Johnston, Bob Olson, Ernie Klein, Mary Lou Langrave.

High games and series: Pat Johnston 213-614; Agnes Baribeau 519, Honey Williams 512; Fran Sarasin 219, LaVerne Paul 202, Vic Wolfe 239-209—643, Harold Krusic 236, Dave Andrews 236, John Manninen 241, Nick Gersich 243-224—631, Jerry Marshall 212-223—625, Rudy Gardipee 229, Chuck Peltier 224, Clem Sharkey 214, Ernie Vanlerbergh 215, Mel Behrend 211, Bud Kennelly 212, Ray McDonald 211, Ernie Baribeau 224-213—610, George Peterson 223-224—624, Steve King 205-206-203—614, Ron Parlato 229, Ed Weber 200, Russ Lee 213, Fred Knauf 244, Dr. Stanchina 204-216—611, Red Holmes 223-216, Pat Dugener 510, Lou Parlato 230-203—603, Phil Norman 212, Marv Palmgren 222, Red Holmes 223-216, Fred Lancour 202, Les Kamin 202, Bob Blomstrom 212 and Richard Palequin 212.

Injuries Plague NBA Title Teams

By The Associated Press
The Philadelphia 76ers and San Francisco Warriors, plagued by injuries all year, once again are looking for optimistic medical reports to bolster their chances in uphill struggles as the National Basketball Association semifinals playoffs resume tonight.

The 76ers are faced with another do-or-die game against the Boston Celtics when they continue their Eastern Division semi in Philadelphia with starting forward Chet Walker limping from a strained leg tendon.

San Francisco was waiting anxiously for reports on injured Jeff Mullins before the Warriors returned to Los Angeles for the fifth game of the Western Division semi against the favored Lakers.

In the other semi in the West, San Diego hopes to even its best-of-7 game series against Atlanta, a visiting favorite.

The New York Knicks, who shocked Baltimore by completing a 4-0 sweep of their East semi Wednesday night, stood by waiting to meet the winner of the Boston-Philadelphia test.

The 76ers, without Luke Jackson most of the season and other regulars for parts of the year, stayed alive without Walker by beating Boston last Tuesday, but the Celtics still hold a 3-1 lead.

Walker, injured last Sunday, was expected to be available tonight, but no one could be sure how much help he would be.

Belinsky Sold To Hawaii Team

HONOLULU (AP) — Bo Belinsky, baseball's former playboy pitcher, has been purchased outright by the Hawaii Islanders of the Pacific Coast League.

"Bo was too good a bargain to pass up," General Manager Jack Quinn of the Islanders said Thursday.

Belinsky was released earlier this week by the St. Louis Cardinals, who had picked him up from the Houston Astros for $25,000 in the players draft.

Chuck Tanner, Islander manager, said Belinsky would start in the team's second game of the season next week in Honolulu.

TIM MCCARVER of the St. Louis Cardinals starts his slide into third base as he advances from first on Mike Shannon's hit to centerfield in the first inning of a recent exhibition contest with the Detroit Tigers in St. Petersburg, Fla. Tiger third baseman Don Wert reaches for the ball but too late to make a play. (AP Wirephoto)

Tigers Picked To Repeat In American League Race

NEW YORK (AP) — The world champion Detroit Tigers have looked more like also rans in Florida but once the bell rings they figure to come alive and win the American League pennant again.

The Tigers, except for a gap at shortstop, are strong all the way down the line, a bit thin in pitching but heavy with that bat.

Baltimore has been ripping everybody in Florida and winning converts to a pennant boom. If Jim Palmer continues his comeback and Frank Robinson stays healthy, they could go all the way. We'll take the Tigers but no runaway this time.

Wild Race
The Eastern Division, stacked with the five first-division teams of 1968, should be a wild race with the Tigers, Orioles, Boston and Cleveland in the thick of it and possibly the optimistic New York Yankees. Only Washington appears completely out of it.

Minnesota and Oakland seem to be the best in the Western Division which also includes Chicago, California and the two expansion teams—Kansas City and Seattle. Picking a winner here is tougher than stabbing the top coil in a field of first time starters.

Here's the way it looks from this angle:

East	West
1. Detroit	1. Minnesota
2. Baltimore	2. Oakland
3. Boston	3. Chicago
4. Cleveland	4. California
5. New York	5. Seattle
6. Washington	6. Kansas City

Slow Return
The Tigers have been losing two for every game they have won in Florida while most of their stars have been slow rounding into form.

Al Kaline and Norm Cash have been the top hitters. Both Denny McLain and Mickey Lolich have been roughed up. However, they were only 14-15 in the exhibition season last year.

Incidentally, Washington led the league last spring with 17-8 in Florida.

Baltimore has the power and defense to stay with the Tigers and they may very well have the pitching, too. Frank Robinson has been the top pitcher.

Penalties Abundant In Hockey Playoffs

By The Associated Press
Fight Night, alias the National Hockey League playoffs, will resume on four new fronts Saturday and the games are expected to last at least 60 minutes if enough players can keep from getting thrown out.

The first eight games, played Wednesday and Thursday nights, were marked by 11 major penalties, seven misconducts and four game misconducts. The uproar started between the Bruins and Maple Leafs in Boston Wednesday night and spread Thursday to the Blues and Flyers in St. Louis and the Seals and Kings in Oakland.

The hockey segments of Thursday night's games ended with Boston shelling Toronto 7-0, Montreal whipping New York 5-2, St. Louis routing Philadelphia 5-0 and Oakland taking Los Angeles 4-2.

The first three series stand 2-0 while the Seals and Kings are 1-1. Weekend games are scheduled in Toronto, New York, Philadelphia and Los Angeles.

Thursday night's brouhaha erupted in St. Louis, where the Blues and Flyers drew one major, four misconducts and two game misconducts. The Oakland-Los Angeles clash produced a misconduct and game misconduct while the Bruins and Leafs, who were socked with 132 penalty minutes Wednesday night, limited themselves to one scrap, which produced two majors.

Before the game, veteran forward Forbes Kennedy of Toronto was suspended indefinitely for knocking down a linesman during an opening night brawl with Boston goalie Gerry Cheevers. NHL President Clarence Campbell said he would make a final decision today.

The only teams that stuck strictly to hockey were Montreal and New York. The Canadiens erupted for three goals in 8½ minutes of the second period to overcome a 2-1 Ranger lead. It was the ninth consecutive playoff victory for the Canadiens over New York dating back to 1957.

Bobby Rousseau, Yvan Cournoyer and Jean Beliveau tallied during Montreal's second-period rally, while rookie Christian Bordeleau scored in the first period and Ralph Backstrom got an open net goal with 28 seconds left.

The Holy Name Booster Club will hold its regularly monthly meeting Thursday, April 10, in the school library. The Sherbeck Carnival and the Honda Contest will be the main topics of discussion.

Ageless Satchel Paige Scores Another Victory

By The Associated Press
Age appears to have finally caught up with former star relievers Roy Face, Bill Henry and John Wyatt, but it can't catch the ageless wonder of them all—Satchel Paige.

Old Satch, who admits to being more than 50 years old and is estimated at 62, showed he can still do a little pitching like a 30-year-old when he ambled his long frame back to the mound Thursday and won another game.

His one inning of shutout ball in the Atlanta Braves' 1-0 victory over their Richmond Class AAA farm club might well have served as an inspiration for "youngsters" Face, 41, Wyatt, 33, and Henry, 41, who found themselves without jobs today.

In other games, Detroit outslugged Cincinnati 9-8, Montreal clobbered Pittsburgh 9-2, Baltimore blanked the New York Yankees 4-0, the New York Mets stopped St. Louis 5-0, Cleveland outlasted San Francisco 12-7, the Chicago White Sox nipped the Chicago Cubs 2-1.

Also Philadelphia beat Kansas City 7-3, Washington whipped Minnesota 7-2, San Diego whopped Oakland 10-4, Houston edged Boston 3-2 and Los Angeles defeated California 4-2.

Face, who starred in the bullpen for many years with Pittsburgh, and Wyatt, once the Kansas City relief ace, were released by the Detroit Tigers, and Henry, one-time ace reliever for Cincinnati and San Francisco, quit Seattle in disgust after a bad outing.

Two other past bullpen masters, Dick Radatz and Dick Hall, received new life when they caught on with Detroit and Baltimore, respectively.

The Braves got him the victory in the last of the fifth when Bob Tillman walked and came around on two wild pitches and an infield out.

Paige, listed on the Atlanta roster as an assistant trainer, plans to pitch a little more in the remaining exhibition games before retiring again.

Willie Horton's first spring homer in the ninth inning climaxed a Detroit comeback from an 8-3 deficit, and Montreal exploded for 18 hits in routing Pittsburgh.

Dave McNally, Jim Palmer and Mike Adamson combined on a one-hitter and Paul Blair and Curt Motton homered in Baltimore's victory. Tom Seaver, readying for Tuesday's opening day assignment, pitched two-hit ball for eight innings for the Mets.

left. Rod Seiling and Vic Hadfield were New York's marksmen.

Boston socked it to Toronto again in the wake of an opening 10-0 massacre. Johnny Bucyk triggered the outburst with two first-period goals as the Bruins relaxed their muscles and stuck to finesse hockey for the most part. Ted Green, John McKenzie, Ken Hodge, Ron Murphy and Phil Esposito got the other goals.

"They deserve the credit more than I do," said goalie Gerry Cheevers of his teammates. "Our defense played super. The wings came back fast every time. Everybody was helping out."

That included All-Star defenseman Bobby Orr, who suffered a concussion Wednesday night. The only brawl was a second-period slugfest between Boston's Don Awrey and Toronto's Larry Mickey.

Gary Sabourin scored one goal and assisted on two others and goalie Jacques Plante recorded his 11th career playoff shutout in a rousing St. Louis triumph over Philadelphia. Bill McCreary, Larry Keenan, Red Berenson and Terry Gray were the other scorers.

Both benches cleared in the second period during a stick-waving incident that saw Phil's Ed Van Impe ejected while Noel Picard and McCreary of the Blues got misconducts.

Oakland's Doug Jarrett, in his first turn on the ice, snapped a 2-2 tie at 2:40 of the third period as the Seals evened things up with Los Angeles. Ted Hampson got the Seals' first two goals and Bob Dillabough scored into an empty net with 13 seconds left.

Oakland's Doug Roberts got the thumb for protesting too much on a goal by LA's Howie Menard. Ted Irvine also scored for the Kings.

Tight Shoulder Bothers McLain

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Denny McLain, named opening game pitcher for the Tigers by Manager Mayo Smith, left for Detroit Thursday complaining of a tightness in his shoulder.

McLain checked into Ford Hospital for examination by team physician Dr. Clarence Lovingood and Dr. Leslie Mitchell, a specialist.

Manager Smith said: "I won't know if he can pitch opening day until Monday, when we will work out at Tiger Stadium."

The opener will be a Tuesday day game with Cleveland.

McLain pitched 6 2-3 innings, allowing 14 hits and 8 runs, in a Thursday exhibition game against Cincinnati. The Tigers won that game 9-8, following Willie Horton's ninth inning leadoff homer.

Last year, McLain had to have injections for his shoulder, which caused him some concern during the World Series. But doctors said it is not a serious problem at this time.

"When Denny tries to put a little extra on the ball, it catches on him," said Manager Mayo Smith in Florida Thursday.

Smith plans to call on World Series hero Mickey Lolich to pitch on opening day if McLain is ailing.

Veteran Dick Radatz is included in the Tiger squad, newly trimmed down to the 25 player limit. Radatz made a strong showing in nine exhibition games this spring, posting a 2.00 earned-run average.

But 41-year-old Elroy Face and 33-year-old John Wyatt were trimmed from the pitching roster.

Face, who had been in the major leagues since 1953, said he would attempt to land a berth on another club.

"I'm starting immediately calling other major league teams. I definitely think I can help somebody."

Wyatt, who came to the Tigers last year from the Yankees, said he was going home. Waivers were asked on both players.

"I'm not going to call anyone," Wyatt remarked.

Four rookies will be on the squad when the season opens for the Tigers Tuesday. They include left-handed pitchers Mike Kilkenny and Fred Sherman and outfielder Ron Woods.

Dave Campbell, who played in nine games last year for the Tigers, is also with the team.

Sent to the Triple-A farm club at cutting-down time were pitchers Les Cain and Bob Reed, catcher Joe Cernich and outfielder Wayne Redmond. Catcher Hector Valle and pitcher Tom Timmerman, two more players who were in camp but not on contract, will also be sent to the Mud Hens.

Local Man Pays $145 In Fines

A local man was assessed fines and costs of $145 and sentenced to two days in jail when Judge Charles A. Stark accepted guilty pleas to three charges preferred by Michigan State Police officers.

Terry Smith, 23, Star Rte., Manistique, pleaded guilty in District Court Wednesday and was fined $25 and costs of $25 for driving with a suspended operator license; $50 and costs of $25 plus two days in jail for eluding a police officer and failing to obey an officer's signal; and $10 and $10 for expired registration plates.

State Police said Smith was sighted driving an auto Saturday, March 29 on county road 442 in Thompson Township. Troopers signaled him to stop but instead Smith parked his auto and ran into the woods. He was arrested by State Police on Monday, March 31, and posted bond of $120 guaranteeing his court appearance on Wednesday.

In another trial by the court, Jack Gould Jr., 547 Alger Ave., was found guilty of illegally setting beaver traps and fined $20 and costs of $20. Complaint was by Dept. of Natural Resources officers.

James Ansell of Cooks was sentenced Thursday afternoon to two days in jail and fined $20 and costs of $20 when Judge Stark accepted a guilty plea of possession of stolen property. Charges were made

IT'S A FARE BRIDGE NOW, says the Mackinac Bridge Authority as maintenance men replace all "toll" signs at the bridge. A "toll," according to Webster, is a tax and a "fare" in the price of transportation. On Jan. 1 tolls — "fares" that is — were reduced 60 per cent and there's been a big increase in bridge traffic since then, attracted by the lower fares, snowmobiling in the U. P. and other induc-ments. The new fares are: car $1.50, car with one axle trailer $2.50, car with two axle trailer $3.50, two axle truck with four tires (mostly pickups) $1.50; two axle truck with six tires $3; three axle truck single unit $3.50; tractor combination three axles $4.50, tractor combination four axles $5, tractor combination five axles $5.50, tractor combination more than five axles $6.50; bus $3.50 and motorcycle $1.

OK Bill Distributing Water Bond Money

LANSING (AP) — Acting with unexpected speed, the Senate Thursday passed and sent to the House a bill setting up procedures for distribution of $285 million in water pollution control bond money.

The bill passed 22-6 over objections of some members who accused backers of "whip cracking" and "shoving through" legislation.

The $285 million, for construction of sewage treatment works, represents a major portion of the $335 million in water pollution control bonds approved by voters in the November election. A companion measure to permit sale of $50 million bonds for sewer construction in local communities still is pending in the Senate.

The bill passed Thursday authorizes the State Water Resources Commission to set priorities on a 30-point scale for treatment project applications. The scale would be set on a financial and pollution basis.

Priorities
The legislature then would appropriate funds based on commission priorities.

This would eliminate any possibility of pork barreling by any administrative body or the Legislature," said Sen. Charles O. Zollar, R-Benton Harbor, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee.

"It would protect both the integrity of the Water Resources Commission" and the position of the Legislature, he said. The bill includes a "system of checks and balances so important in this type of legislation," Zollar added.

The bill was reported onto the Senate floor Thursday and rules were suspended for immediate consideration.

Zollar pointed to the Legislature's 10-day Easter recess and urged immediate passage. Senate approval sent the bill to the House where it will lie over the required five days during the recess and be eligible for consideration when members returned to Lansing.

Jeopardize Funds
Senate failure to act immediately could have delayed passage and jeopardized some local projects, he said.

If the pollution bond measure was not enacted before the end of the current fiscal year, Zollar explained, some 31 local units could lose already-approved federal funds.

Sen. Harold Hungerford, R-Lansing, objected to the speedy trial of the bill in the upper chamber. "It's about time we acted as a Senate, with some degree of deliberation," added Sen. L. Harvey Lodge, R-Waterford.

Gov. William Milliken had urged swift passage of the bond measure in order to take full advantage of the spring construction season.

Senate action on the bill came within hours of an attorney general's ruling that the bond measures could be passed before any general appropriations bills.

Milliken asked for the opinion, citing a section of the Michigan Constitution requiring action on general budget bills before passage of items not included in the budget.

Kelley said, however, that since the pollution bond measures did not require appropriations, the constitutional question did not pertain.

Banking Laws
A 144-page bill to recodify the state's banking laws—the first major revision since 1937—came up for discussion Thursday, but members postponed preliminary approval because of its complexity and a series of amendments offered.

Sen. Gilbert Bursley, R-Ann Arbor, told colleagues the state's banking industry favored the bill and had proposed several of the amendments.

"I become unnerved when we put the foxes in charge of the chicken coop," said Sen. Roger Craig, D-Deerborn. "The banking industry is in favor of the bill—what do the people think?"

In addition, the Senate passed a supplemental appropriations bill, granting $746,000 to state agencies for operations during the remainder of the current fiscal year.

Also approved was a House-passed measure aimed at helping the J.L. Hudson Co. of Detroit affect a desired merger with Dayton Corp. of Minneapolis. The bill would allow Hudson's to maintain its identity as a Michigan corporation.

Halt Plane For Bomb Check

DETROIT (AP) — An American Airlines plane was detained in Detroit briefly Thursday night, when authorities received a report a bomb was hidden in luggage. However, none was found and the incident was termed a hoax.

The plane, carrying 92 passengers, arrived at Detroit Metropolitan Airport at 10:14 p.m. The plane's captain asked for the search after American Airlines workers at Chicago's O'Hare Airport received two phone calls in which a man said he put a bomb in his mother's luggage in an attempt to kill her.

Bill Reduces Farm Worker Strikes

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Michigan congressman predicts there will be fewer farm strikes if Congress approves a bill that would bring farm workers under the National Labor Relations Act.

Rep. James G. O'Hara, D-Mich., says the bill introduced Thursday by 57 House members would provide regular, lawful means of settling labor disputes that do not exist now.

Jacobetti Wants Ban On Doe Hunt

LANSING (AP) — A long-time critic of deer policies set by the State Department of Natural Resources has called for a two-year ban throughout the state on the shooting of does and fawns.

Rep. Dominic Jacobetti, D-Negaunee, has introduced a measure to forbid the taking of antlerless deer in the 1969 and 1970 seasons. This would apply to firearms only.

Jacobetti previously has tried for years without success, to take away the department's discretionary power over the deer herd.

"There has been a decline in Michigan's deer herd," Jacobetti said. "The two year moratorium on the shooting of does and fawns would give the herd a chance to build up again."

The state conservation department long has contended that the taking of does and fawns is good conservation because excess deer would die of starvation anyway during hard winters.

Michigan's forests are growing up, the department game men have said, the food supply is dwindling.

They also say the deer cropping is needed because so many are killed on the highways and in some areas the whitetails cause crop and orchard damage.

John Byrlich, department deer specialist, said the deer take has remained at about the same level for more than five years—averaging between 90,000 and 110,000.

"This is despite a declining food situation because of a maturing forest," he said. "If we closed the season to antlerless deer for five years, we would have less deer than we have now in most areas."

Jacobetti also introduced bills to make deer and small game licenses available to senior citizens over 65 for 50 cents each. The deer license presently costs $5 and the small game license $3.

Jacobetti noted that the fishing license fee for senior citizens has been reduced to 50 cents and said the 50 cent hunting licenses would be in line with this policy.
